THE CITY AT PRESENT.

Feeding the Hungry—Scenes at the Distribution of Relief—The Insurances and the Banks—Clearing Away the Ruins.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The city is still disorganized, but not disorderly. The stories which have been telegraphed of attempted incendiarism and lynchings are pronounced by Gen. SHERIDAN to be fabrications, and no substantiated case of such outrage can be found. The public mind is still excitable, and this afternoon I saw striking proof of it at the intersection of Washington and Ann streets, where food was being distributed to the homeless. Somebody started the cry that a man was endeavoring to fire a building close by, and thousands instantly started in pursuit of a poor fellow who was near the house in question, but had no designs against it. He escaped, but the incident shows how quick the public is to scent danger, as this supposed attempt at incendiarism was believed to have been committed in plain view of thousands congregated about the Congregational Church to obtain relief. The saddest sight in the city is now to be seen in this locality, where houseless thousands daily gather to obtain supplies. The machinery for their relief is still imperfect, and although supplies are ample, hours elapse before any applicant obtains the relief sought. They are formed in lines stretching a long distance up street, and each in turn must come to the door of the Church to state the necessities and be furnished. In the line are men and women of all ages, intermingled with whom are many children, some of whom are of tender years. All these are utterly destitute, having barely escaped with their lives, and are dependent on the charity of mankind for food, clothing and shelter. The first two items have been liberally sent here from all parts of the Union, and the supply is ample. Today the erecting of barracks for the houseless began in the open square at Ann and Washington streets. Several of these were completed, and a large number of families moved in. These barracks are rough wood structures, intended only for shelter, and in them the victims of the fire can only burrow like so many beasts. But they are saved from the inclemency of the weather, and that is a great point gained.

THE RUINS.

The Madison-street bridge was opened to vehicles today, and the consequence was a large addition to the visitors to view the ruins of the South Division. Thousands swarmed all day through desolated streets, where at the same time hundreds of workmen were busy extracting safes from the débris, and in many cases erecting rough wooden boxes on the rubbish, as the temporary houses of great firms. One brick building I saw begun in Madison-street, and several others will probably soon be commenced. As the ruins are still hot, this enterprise is marvelous, and is an indication that the city will soon be rebuilt.

LOOKING THE SITUATION IN THE FACE.

People at last are settling down to the problem confronting them, and the whole extent of the calamity is fully realized. Many months must elapse before any serious attempt at reconstruction can even begin, and in the meantime much of its trade must leave the city, as there are no means here now to accommodate it. The city has the capacity still to handle 5,000,000 bushels of grain per annum, and this fact has somewhat reassured the public mind. Most confidence, however, is gained from the fact that a far larger proportion of the insurance will be paid than was supposed possible. It is believed that the liabilities of the several companies are represented by the following list, and that all will be paid in full:

North American, of New-York	$800,000

In addition, the banks have made liberal offers, and a general feeling of confidence in the future is prevalent. Meetings of citizens to devise ways and means of restoration are daily held, and no resident doubts that Chicago will surely and speedily rise from her ashes.

ANOTHER ALARM.

Considerable excitement was caused this afternoon by a fire in the extreme western part of the city, which destroyed two houses and a stack of hay, but without doing any further damage. The story of incendiarism was inevitable in connection with the occurrence, and a boy who had matches in his pocket was duly caught and incarcerated.

THE NEWSPAPERS.

The Times is the only one of the leading newspapers which has not resumed publication, and it is said Mr. STOREY does not intend to resume for some time. In the meantime his great rival, the Tribune, is reaping a rich harvest, as there is an insatiable demand for news, and it has almost exclusive possession of the field, as the Republican does not yet amount to much. All the papers published are greatly reduced in size, and bear no resemblance to the handsome sheets they were before the fire.

THE COAL-YARDS.

The great coal-heaps along the river continue to blaze, and to-night, as ever since the conflagration, illuminate the ruins with a ghastly light. Little damage is being done, however, by these fires, and the citizens rather enjoy the display which makes the ruins of so much wealth and enterprise wierdly picturesque every night.

SEARCHING FOR THE DEAD.

By day explorations of the ruins for dead bodies are continuously made, and over one hundred have been found thus far. It is believed that more than five hundred human beings have perished in the flames, but the city has been so indurated to misfortune that this sacrifice of life seems to attract little attention. Chicago has lost at least two hundred millions of its material wealth, has had its heart eaten out, and 70,000 of its people are houseless and penniless. Every one is too intent on recovering this wealth, restoring this vital organ and caring for the living victims, to care much for the dead.

Chicago Children Provided for in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—Arrangements have been completed here for 200 Chicago children who are expected to arrive in charge of MURRAY SHIPLEY, now at Chicago. Contributions for their support come from many houses, public and private schools being among the most important contributors.

Brighter Prospects and Rising Hope—Business Still Dormant—Preparations to Resume—The Relief and Aid Society—The Loss of Life.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 13.—The dawn of each succeeding day brings brighter prospects, and the hope of the energetic men who made Chicago what it was is strengthened. The newspapers this morning are filled with advertisments of business changes. Builders are overwhelmed with applications to put up new houses. One man had sixteen contracts last night. Active preparations are going on for the restoration of all branches of business. A proposition made by members of the Board of Trade to settle outstanding contracts on the basis of last Saturday's market, meets with favor. There is no business whatever doing.

THE ELEVATORS.

Eight elevators were saved. The following were burned: MUNGER & ARMOUR'S, Galena, Illinois Central A, HIRAM WHEELER'S, National, VINCENT, NELSON & CO.'S. The following are unharmed: Illinois Central B, FLINT & THOMPSON, two of MUNN & SCOTT'S, two of ARMOUR, DOLE & CO.'S, Burlington and Old Iowa and Illinois River. The total quantity of grain remaining in the elevators is 5,000,000 bushels. The quantity destroyed will reach 2,000,000 bushels. Temporary trade-rooms have been established at Nos. 51 and 53 Canal-street.

THE BANKS.

Thus far none of the bank vaults have been found to be injured. The Union National is in perfect condition. Every dollar of the millions of deposit in the Fidelity Safe Deposit Company's vaults is safe. The amount of funds saved from the vaults of the banks, added to the balances in New-York, leaves them an amount of cash equal to forty or fifty per cent. This, with the insurances that will be paid, insures the collection of seventy-five per cent of their loans by the banks.

NEWSPAPER ESTABLISHMENTS BURNED.

There were eighty-nine newspaper establishments destroyed in the burnt district, embracing dailies and monthlies.

THE COURT-HOUSE.

The County Supervisors met today and resolved to rebuild the Court-house at once.

THE RELIEF ORGANIZATION.

There has been some inharmony for a day or two in regard to the management of contributions and relief funds. The old difficulty between the Mayor and the Common Council broke out anew. Meetings of committees from Cincinnati, Louisville, St. Louis, Indianapolis and other cities, have been held during yesterday and today, in which there has been considerable plain talk. They finally resolved not to have their purpose misunderstood, which was to secure assurance that the contributions hereafter should be properly disposed of. The object has been to leave the funds in the control of the Mayor and citizens known to the country at large for ability and integrity. To meet this view thorough organization was effected this afternoon, consisting of the Chicago Relief and Aid Society, assisted by prominent citizens. All bills are to be audited by the executive committee of that society, consisting of seven well-known citizens, the Controller, and R. B. MASON, the Mayor. In the great destruction that overwhelmed us we needed a little time to perfect organizations.

The following Committees have been appointed:

On receiving, storing and assorting supplies, and dealing out upon requisitions from other Committees, MURRAY NELSON, Chairman, aided by Gen. HARDEE; on shelter, T. M. AVERY, Chairman; on employment, N. K. FAIRBANKS, Chairman; on transportation, to procure passes for the destitute and freight accommodations, GEORGE PALMER, Chairman; on reception and correspondence, WIRT DEXTER, Chairman; on the distribution of food, clothing and fuel, O. C. GIBBS, Chairman; on sick, sanitary and hospital measures, Dr. H. A. JOHNSON, Chairman.

A PROCLAMATION ON THE SITUATION.

The following proclamation has just been furnished the Associated Press.

The Mayor of Chicago is happy to be able to announce that the City remains quiet and peaceable. There is no lawlessness, incendiarism, or riotous conduct. Order reigns supreme. Life and property are as secure as before the burning of the city. The City Government in all its Departments is now in full and complete operation. None of our inhabitants are without shelter or food. Food to relieve present necessities has flowed in upon us in abundance from all quarters, but a long Winter is before us and we shall need all the aid that sympathizing humanity can offer us. Such an exhibition of sympathy and generous aid as has been called forth by our great calamity has never been equalled in the history of the world. It has cheered and encouraged our citizens; business has largely been resumed; business, mostly of a temporary character, are springing up in all parts of the 2,000 acres of ruins; many permanent buildings are being erected, and it is noted the energy of our citizens is being everywhere displayed. In the name of our citizens, I tender heartfelt thanks to all who have so nobly and generously sympathized with and aided us in our great distress.

(Signed.) R. B. MASON, Mayor.

THE LOSS OF LIFE.

Evidence is accumulating that the loss of life is greater than has heretofore been estimated. Rumor prevails, by some believed, that HENRY J. ALLMAN, banker, was murdered instead of having been suffocated by fire. His body was found near his banking-house, which he had evidently just left, with his money and valuables in his arms.

AID FOR CHICAGO.

Contributions Still Coming in—Action of the Chamber of Commerce and Their Organization.

The contributions for the Chicago sufferers still continue to pour in from every quarter and now take the form of money and clothing. The banks and other institutions are actively co-operating in the charitable work, and the funds received are being judiciously distributed. At the meeting of the Relief Committee, at the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday, the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, and Treasurer, were appointed a Committee of Arrangements for the proper distribution of the funds.

It was announced that messages, per cable, to and from Europe, on the Chicago distress, would be transmitted without charge.

The Mayor of Chicago wrote, saying that he had received 1,000 guineas from the Lord Mayor of London. Another letter related that £3,300 had been contributed at the meeting of Americans in London.

The following responses to the appeal for aid are from children:

NEW-YORK, Thursday, Oct. 12, 1871.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Please accept from a little brother and sister fifty cents each, ($1) for the dear suffering children way out in Chicago. JENNIE BURLESON,
WILLIE BURLESON.

The boys of Grammar School, No. 38, have remitted the amounts below stated: First Class Grammar School No. 38, male, $17 50; Second Class Grammar School No. 38, male, $16 10; total, $33 60.

The little girls in Ward School No. 50 contributed of their own accord the sum of $54 27, which has been sent to this office to be forwarded to the needy public-school children of Chicago.

In many of the churches, on Sunday, contributions will be taken up in aid of the sufferers.

The Treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce Relief Committee states that the contribution of $2,780 56, the equivalent of £500, received at the hands of Messrs. BROWN BROS. & Co., of this City, was from the American Chamber of Commerce of Liverpool, and not from Messrs. BROWN, SHIPLEY & Co., of that city.

The Relief Committee of the Chamber of Commerce have issued an appeal to the public on behalf of the sufferers in Chicago. The appeal concludes as follows:

"While a laudable ambition to unite in a glorious work has been set forth as characteristic of our people in the present emergency, the undersigned feel fully justified in assuming that there are yet many to be reached in the ordinary way, and that some may require the prompting that is so effectual from the pulpit, whose sway is so benignant and kind, and from the Press, whose influence is all powerful. And appealing thus to the public, and pledging themselves to continued and earnest endeavor in this noble work of charity and Christian brotherhood, the Committee subscribe their names."

A meeting of the medical profession is called for Monday evening, to provide relief for the Chicago doctors.

A correspondent suggests that one lady in each block in this City should apply to her neighbors for such clothing as they can spare, and forward it for the needy, homeless poor of Chicago. This has been done in one district in Lexington-avenue, where the contributions by six ladies were sufficient to fill a large case, which was duly forwarded to Chicago.

The following is a further list of subscriptions for the Chicago sufferers:

AID FROM OTHER CITIES.

Meetings in Paris, Dublin, Southampton, and Other European Cities.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Mr. WASHBURNE has issued a call for a meeting of Americans to-morrow, to contribute to the relief of the Chicago sufferers.

DUBLIN, Oct. 13.—Many prominent citizens have joined in a request to the Mayor of this city, to call a public meeting for the purpose of establishing a Chicago relief fund.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—The Mayor of Southampton calls on the citizens to contribute money and clothing for Chicago. The Common Council of this city today voted that 1,000 guineas be placed to the credit of the Mayor of Chicago. Contributions from private individuals amount to upward of £7,000. The Liverpool Chamber of Commerce voted £300 yesterday. The American Chamber contributed $13,000. Today there will be a mass-meeting to secure further aid. The Edinburgh Chamber of Commerce has requested the Provost to call a mass-meeting to organize relief committees. At Berlin subscriptions have been opened. At Frankfort, bankers and merchants are contributing and making personal efforts in securing subscriptions.

The Insurance Companies and Their Ability to Pay.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The agents of the Ætna Insurance Company are paying losses, which they claim will not reach $3,000,000. The Liverpool, London and Globe Insurance Companies have ordered the payment of their losses at once. The aggregate losses of these companies is about $6,000,000. The loss of the Commerce, at Albany, is $450,000. This Company has been placed in the hands of receivers.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 13.—The following circular was issued this morning:

OFFICE OF THE CONNECTICUT FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 13, 1871.

Definite information just received from Chicago places our losses at so high a figure that we are obliged to suspend business until the question of reorganization shall be settled.

(Signed,) JOHN B. ELDREDGE, President.

THE FIRES IN MICHIGAN.

Details of the Destruction of Manistee—Dreadful Sufferings of the People—Relief Asked.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 13.—Full particulars of the burning of Manistee, Mich., on Sunday night, were received today. About 10 o'clock the fire-engines gave out, after which the flames spread without resistance, the wind blowing a gale all night. The loss is estimated at nearly $1,000,000, upon which there is only $60,000 insurance. The sufferings of the people are beyond description. The people of Grand Rapids and Grand Haven promptly supplied their immediate necessities, and Senator FERRY and the Mayor of Grand Rapids have issued an earnest appeal to the people of the whole State for aid. The necessities of the people are imperative. They need immediately flour, meat and clothing. Direct all supplies to Senator FERRY, Grand Haven. A Government vessel will carry all contributions from Grand Haven to Manistee.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—1 A. M.—The area of highest barometer continues on the middle Atlantic coast moving slowly North-eastward. The area of low pressure probably exists west of Lake Michigan, but reports are not received from that region. Fresh southerly winds, with light rain, have extended from Iowa to Indiana. South-easterly winds on the Gulf coast, and north-east winds, with cloudy weather, on the South Atlantic. Clear and smoky weather has prevailed in the Middle and Eastern States, with southerly winds at most places, replacing the north-westerly winds of Thursday. The temperature has risen slightly in the Southern States, has fallen with northerly winds in the Missouri Valley, so far as heard from, and has risen on the lower lakes.

PROBABILITIES.

The barometer will probably fall rapidly on the Atlantic coast, with easterly winds and threatening weather south of Virginia, and southerly winds, with cloudy weather and possibly rain in the course of the day, from Lake Erie to Wisconsin, and southward to the Gulf; cold northerly winds from Kansas to Lake Superior and westward; southerly winds, with rising temperature, in New-York and New-England, and partially cloudy and pleasant weather in the Middle States.

THE STUYVESANT BANK.

Suspension of Payment—A Receiver Appointed—Cause of the Difficulty.

A good deal of uneasiness was caused in financial circles, yesterday, upon the announcement that the Stuyvesant Bank had suspended payment, and that its affairs had gone into the hands of a receiver. There was at once a rush of depositors and stockholders to the banking-rooms on Broadway, corner of Eighth-street. Eager and repeated inquiries were made as to the cause, condition, and probable termination of the matter. The reply, that the institution would make good all demands seemed to give general satisfaction, and the anxious inquirers departed. The stockholders and depositors expressed much sympathy for the Bank, with the wish that its affairs might be soon resulated and business resumed. It is a State Bank, and has a capital of $200,000. No official statement of the condition of the affairs has yet been prepared, but the liabilities are estimated at about $400,000, and the assets at $600,000.

It seems that at any other time the institution could have raised money to continue business, but that they have found it impossible to do so under the present condition of the money market and the excitement caused by the Chicago fire. On Thursday morning, at the commencement of banking hours, and without any previous intimation, it is alleged that the Merch did not think there was any case at all before the Court. The Department of Parks was not invested with any judicial power whatever to inquire into or to adjudicate upon any claims against the City of New-York. They do not stand in the character of Supervisors of the County, who have jurisdiction and who are vested with judicial powers to enable them to exercise their discretion as to matters which properly come before them relating to the County. With that power the will of the Supervisors, having jurisdiction, could be enforced by that Court by writ of mandamus against the Controller. But the Department of Parks was vested with no such powers. They had no right whatever to examine witnesses, to make any inquiries, or to settle any claims against the City of New-York. All these matters must go before the Department of Finance and be adjudicated therein. These requisitions that are thus sent to the Department of Finance are made under the provisions of two statutes—one is for assessment bonds, and the other requisition for funded bonds. In both cases the statute which applied to funded bonds expressly provides that the requisitions be made by the Board—by no other authority but by the authority of the Board of the Department of Parks. The requisitions are made at the instance of the Executive Committee, and they had no authority in law to demand in anticipation that the Deputy Controller shall issue bonds and pay interest on them. The requisitions are to the extent of $4,000,000. If they were complied with there would be $1,000,000 lying to their credit in the bank, and the City paying the interest. On the face of the requisitions they are of such a character that they cannot be complied with by the Department of Finance. In so far as these demands were made for assessment bonds, he had only to say, that under the statutes passed prior to 1867, assessments which were to be imposed were for only a portion of the work to be executed by the Commissioners of Central Park and now by the Department of Parks. So far, then, as the assessment bonds were concerned, they should be provided for out of the taxation. He did not raise the question so far as assessment bonds were concerned, but in this particular case the demand for assessment bonds applied to where there was only a part of the amount which was demanded to be provided for out of assessments, the remainder was to be provided for out of taxation, and in so far as the latter demand was concerned it struck at the Two per Cent. act, and also at the charter, which provided that before they can proceed with the execution of work of such a character there must be an appropriation. The 101st section of the charter provided that no expense shall be incurred by any of the Departments, boards or officers thereof, whether the expenditure shall be ordered by the Common Council or not, unless appropriations shall be made covering such expense. In so far as the requisitions that are not covered by assessments are concerned, it was not alleged, and could not be alleged truly, that any appropriation had been made by charter to provide for these expenditures, and therefore there was no power to proceed with the execution of such works, and in addition there was no power in the Department of Finance to provide for the amount, except to the extent to which the appropriation may be made. That was a matter, he observed, in conclusion, in connection with the Department of Parks, that should be considered, because of the operation of the Two per Cent. act, and also of that provision of the charter which shows that there can be no provision by the Department of Finance to provide for any such expenditure which may be made beyond the amount demanded.

Mr. VANDERPOEL said that in answer to the whole argument he would simply read the fifth section of the act of 1871, authorizing the Board of Parks to draw certain moneys for certain purposes from the Controller.

Mr. STRAHAN said that these matters provided for by that act were to be provided for out of permanent bonds, and to them the Two per Cent. act was a bar. His argument that morning had been addressed to the assessment bonds which were to be issued under the act of 1867, and it was that he had argued proper power ought to have made the appropriation.

Judge INGRAHAM said it was not to be presumed that public officers—as these gentlemen were—would call for bonds beyond what the law authorized, nor did he think they were bound to wait for special expenditures before obtaining money. The Legislature meant that these moneys should be placed in their hands to meet expenditures, and the members of the Department were responsible for its proper use. The Two per Cent. act did not apply to assessment bonds, and in the other branch, the issue of funded bonds, he would have to take time for examination of the statutes, and would reserve his decision as to the effect of the Two per Cent. act upon that issue.

The proceedings then adjourned, it being understood the formal mandamus for the issue of assessment bonds would be presented today.

THE GRAND JURY DISCHARGED.

No Indictments Found Against the Mayor or the Voucher Thieves—Names of the New Grand Jurors.

The Grand Jury for the Court of Oyer and Terminer was discharged yesterday without having found any indictments against the Mayor or the voucher thieves. The jurors came into Court in the morning and handed in a number of indictments, all charging crimes of ordinary character, and against none of the City plunderers. The indictments having been handed to the Clerk, Judge BARNARD, addressing the Grand Jury, said they were discharged, with the thanks of the Court for the manner in which they had performed their duties. They were discharged thus early, he said, in order not to impose too much labor on any one Grand Jury. On Monday next another Grand Jury would be impaneled.

The panel of Grand Jurors which is to take the place of the one discharged yesterday numbers fifty names, which are certified to as having been drawn last month in the presence of Judge BARNARD, Deputy County Clerk GUMBLETON and Under-Sheriff STEVENS. Among those whose names appeared on the list were LORIN INGERSOLL, the father and partner of the great chair-maker; ARCHIBALD HALL, Jr., the man who has made so much money as painter to the County, and EUGENE A. HEATH, believed to be interested with INGERSOLL in the manufacture of certain lamps which the Ring is trying to foist on the City. The panel was called at the Court of General Sessions, before Recorder HACKETT, at the opening of the present term, when the following-named persons answered:

FRANCIS M. BIXBY, merchant, No. 409 Greenwich-street.

EDWIN DOBBS, carpets, No. 128 West Thirty-third-street.

DAVID FORCHINNER, hats, No. 472 Broadway.

WM. M. FLIESS, No. 47 Broadway.

GEORGE F. FORREST, Vice-President, No. 25 Broad-street.

CHARLES E. HARTSHORNE, manufacturer, No. 119 Walker-street.

MARCELLUS HARTLEY, guns, No. 17 West Thirtieth-street.

RICHARD HEATHER, coal, No. 130 West Thirty-second-street.

WM. H. HARBECK, merchant, No. 81 Beaver-street.

JUDSON HASKEL, grocer, No. 169 East Eighty-sixth-street.

AMOS F. HASKIN, jeweler, No. 259 Fourth-avenue.

FREDERICK HABERSHAW, merchant, No. 113 Maiden-lane.

LORIN INGERSOLL, chairs, No. 105 East Twenty-first-street.

EUGENE J. JACKSON, No. 66 Exchange-place.

DANE H. JONES.

GEO. KUSTER, No. 148 East Fourteenth-street.

ISAAC J. OLIVER, printer, No. 34 Park-row.

D. W. O'HALLORAN, No. 16 East Broadway.

ZACHARIAH APPENHEIM, No. 7 Gold-street.

WM. PALEN, hides, No. 86 Gold-street.

CHAS. G. ROSENBERG, artist, No. 349 East Fourteenth-street.

A. HALL, Jr., got excused from serving, and Mr. HEATH did not make his appearance. The jurors were ordered to report at Court on the 15th inst. to be impaneled.

The Work of Retrenchment in the Finance Department.

Mr. HENRY P. BOSTWICK, who has been since 1859 general book-keeper in the Finance Department, was replaced yesterday by Mr. MOORE FALLS. The salary is $5,000 per annum. Mr. A. HINCKLEY, assistant book-keeper, was also removed yesterday.

ABRAHAM L. EARLE, who replaces Mr. LYNES as County Auditor, was sworn into office yesterday by the Mayor.

Several representatives of the Inspectors of Sewers and Pavements called on the Deputy Controller yesterday for their pay, and were informed that there was no fund from which they can be paid, and even if there were, that the injunction would prevent a settlement of their claims.

Warrants were drawn, yesterday, for the salaries of the Judges and attachés of the Marine Court, the Common Council and the Mayor's office.

A number of attachés of the Court of General Sessions have been marked for removal. The force will be reduced at least one-third.

Money Wanted by the Committee of Seventy.

The following circular has been issued by the Committee on Ways and Means of the Committee of Seventy:

NEW-YORK, Oct. 6, 1871.

DEAR SIR: The undersigned, a Committee on Ways and Means, appointed from among the Committee of Seventy of Citizens and Taxpayers, appeal to you for pecuniary aid to assist in defraying expenses consequent upon the efforts of the Committee to execute the will of the tax-payers of New-York, as expressed at their recent public meeting, viz.: to use all legal measures to put a stop to the misgovernment of the City and misappropriation of its funds. The expenses of the extensive legal proceedings and publication of facts will be large, and a liberal response is solicited from those who can afford it. Savings banks, insurance companies, and similar institutions have an especial and vital interest in the effort to place the financial condition of the City on a sound basis and under an honest administration. It is estimated that more than half the City obligations are owned by fiduciary corporations. To these, therefore, we appeal for especial consideration in donations to our fund. Contributions may be addressed to either of the undersigned

Committee of Ways and Means—James M. Brown, Henry Clews, B. B. Sherman, W. R. Vermilye, Joseph Seligman, Jacob D. Vermilye, Samuel D. Babcock, John A. Stewart, Wm. M. Fiess, Eugene Ballin; Emil Sauer, Treasurer; Henry G. Stebbins, Chairman, ex-officio; Wm. F. Havemeyer, Vice-Chairman, ex-officio.

Receipts of Taxes.

The tax receipts on personal property yesterday amounted to $42,117 72. The total collection thus far is $1,485,824 51. The books for real estate will probably be opened on Monday.

EUROPEAN MAIL NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE CUNARD STEAM-SHIP CUBA.

The Cunard steam-ship Cuba, which left Liverpool on Sept. 30, and Queenstown on Oct. 1, reached this port late Thursday night.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

Oracular Utterances—Speeches of Messrs. Gladstone and Disraeli—Soft Words for Scotland—The New Irish Policy—Mr. Disraeli's Harvest Home—A Significant Address—The Health of the Queen.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, Sept. 30, 1871.

The political oracles have spoken, and are supposed to have given the cue to their respective followers for the speeches which are expected from them by their constituents during the recess. Mr. GLADSTONE and Mr. DISRAELI delivered their utterances on the same day,—Wednesday—and highly characteristic utterances they were, although, of course, neither disclosed any definite or detailed scheme of policy. The telegraph is a great convenience to statesmen who wish to unburden their minds, for they are sure to be reported in next morning's papers throughout the country wherever they speak. Thus Mr. GLADSTONE was enabled to address his countrymen, as through a speaking-trumpet, from the beach at Whitby, when he was taking a holiday there. And again on Wednesday, he utilised an hour or two at Aberdeen, on his way to the Queen at Balmoral, in dictating a speech to the little knot of reporters who represented for the nonce the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. Mr. GLADSTONE had to make his peace with the Scotch, who have been the main-stay of his Government, but who are rather sore in consequence of the neglect of Scotch legislation; and also rather suspicious of a disposition on the part of the Government to favor the Catholic Priesthood in Ireland; and he performed his delicate task very adroitly. The keen nationality, the clannishness of the Scotch is proverbial, and Mr. GLADSTONE assailed the soft side of their character when he presented himself as a countryman. Every drop of blood in his body was, he assured them, Scotch. His father, in fact, was a poor lad from Leith, who went to Liverpool and made a fortune. Next he insinuated that if Scotch legislation had rather fallen into the background, it was because the Scotch were such a self-reliant, well-behaved, steady-going people that they needed to have very little done for them in that way. A reference to the troublesomeness of the Irish flattered the self-complacency of the Northern race. So far as Mr. BUTT's election for Limerick implied dissatisfaction with the Imperial Parliament, he regretted it, but if that feeling existed it was well that it should be interpreted by an able and eloquent lawyer.

THE NEW IRISH POLICY.

I told you in my last letter that England was on the eve of a change in the attitude of the Government toward Ireland, and Mr. GLADSTONE, without speaking so frankly as I did, said the same thing in more guarded terms. He pointed out that the only difference in the treatment of Ireland, as compared with the treatment of England and Scotland, was that the Irish are exempted from various taxes which are imposed on the rest of the Kingdom, and that grants of money are freely and largely given to Ireland which it would be hopeless to ask for on behalf of England or Scotland. The Church bill and the Land bill showed, he said, the anxiety of the Imperial Legislature to remove Irish grievances. And then he added these significant words:

"People say that we have tried to conciliate Ireland, and that we have failed. I do not admit that Ireland is going to be conciliated, but I say this, that we must always keep in mind that there is a higher law to govern the actions of Parliaments and of politicians than the law of conciliation, good as that law may be. We desire to conciliate Ireland—we desire to soothe her people, and the sounded feelings and the painful recollections of her people. We desire to attach her to this island in the silken cords of love. But there was a higher and a paramount aim in the measures that Parliament has passed, and that was that it should do its duty. It was to set itself right with the national conscience, with the operations of the world, and with the principles of justice, and when that is done, I say fearlessly that whether conciliation be at once realized or not, that the position of this country is firm and invulnerable."

The meaning of this is, of course, that now that the people have put themselves right with their own conscience, Ireland must expect to be treated just the same as the rest of the Kingdom, and that the days of petting and indulgence are over. As for any question of home rule, or, to give it its true name, repeal of the union, he asked whether

"Any rational man could suppose that at this time of day, in this condition of the world, we were going to disintegrate the capital institutions of the Kingdom for the purpose of making ourselves ridiculous in the sight of all mankind, and crippling any power we possess for bestowing benefits through legislation on the country to which we belong?"

This is very different language from that which Mr. GLADSTONE used to hold when he was in the "Ireland for the Irish" vein, and argued that Ireland must be governed exclusively according to Irish ideas. He has discovered that the policy of pure indulgence is a failure, and that justice and firmness are the best means of ruling a wayward and impulsive people, whose feelings have been cultivated at the expense of their intellect. This may be regarded as a "departure" from the sentimental policy of the Government in regard to the sister island. Hitherto, Mr. GLADSTONE and Mr. CHICHESTER FORTESCUE have been trying to govern Ireland through the priests, and have found that this means the alienation, and, in course of time, the open revolt of the Protestant population of the North, as well as the withdrawal of a large body of his supporters in England, and especially in Scotland. One effect of the establishment of the Italians at Rome has been to stimulate the energy of the Ultramontane Party in Belgium and Ireland. Beaten from one stronghold after another, from Italy, Austria and Spain, the priests are concentrating their efforts in those countries where the free Government they in principle abominate and detest gives them for the present an advantage they do not possess under more arbitrary Governments. It is quite certain that the English Government will have to make a stand against their encroachments in Ireland, even at the risk of throwing them into the arms of the Fenians and home rule people, and the advances they have lately been allowed to make are only so much lost ground which will have to be recovered. It is at least fortunate that Mr. GLADSTONE has discovered the error of his ways, but there are still many people who distrust him on this point and suspect him of only stirring the dust to hide his policy.

MR. DISRAELI'S HARVEST HOME.

There is no part which Mr. DISRAELI loves to play so much as that of an English country gentleman. His connection with the young England movement in the earlier part of his career may be probably traced to the fascination of this ideal on his mind; and in his novels, whenever he has an opportunity of glorifying the functions and character of the Squirearchy, he never fails to do so. When he first stood for Buckinghamshire, he used to get himself up for the part in the most elaborate and artistic manner in a green cut-away coat, with spotted bird's-eye neckerchief, low-crowned hat, and riding-whip—indeed, there is a tradition of his once appearing in top boots, though it is not properly authenticated. He has of late rather given up costume as an aid to effect, but has not abandoned his favorite rôle. It is usual on all large estates to have a harvest home about this season—a kind of family gathering—at which the proprietor presides, like a father over his children. There is an afternoon dinner—great rounds of beef and hams, and huge meat pies, with abundance of good ale. After dinner pipes are lighted, more beer is ordered in, and the speeches begin. I don't know that the oratorical power of the chairman, and other grandees who may be present, matter much, but the pipes are a searching test of genial fellowship. A gentleman who produces his pocket meerschaum, and smokes it in a free and easy way is respected; but if he puffs his tobacco through one of the long, white clay pipes which are handed round—"churchwardens," they are called—his triumph over the affections of the farmers, and especially the farm-laborers, is complete. That long clay pipe is the touch of nature which makes the whole world kin. It supplies a link of common humanity between the different classes, and the festive fusion is accomplished. The harvest home at Hughenden came off on Wednesday, and Mr. DISRAELI, as lord of the manor, took the chair. His remarks about the Queen's health and her devotion to public business have, no doubt, been telegraphed to you, but it is possible that the rest of the speech, which was perhaps, the most significant, has not yet reached the other side of the Atlantic. Apparently it related only to rose-gardens and plain sewing, and such small matters. But the meaning of the speech lay in what was not said, as well as what was said. It was observed that toward the end of the session Mr. DISRAELI was somewhat late in his attendance in the House of Commons; that he spoke seldom and briefly. He has refused several invitations to attend public dinners and meetings since Parliament rose, and now when, for the first time, he breaks silence, he has, beyond a few flattering and sympathetic words for the Queen, nothing to say, except that "the barley was bright, the oats golden, and both abundant;" that "the sunny slopes of Hughenden were ripe and rich in succulent roots;" that laborers were apt to grow potatoes too exclusively; that the cultivation of roses was by no means so costly as was supposed, seeing that briar roots cost next to nothing; that rose cuttings could always be got for the asking from Limsell and other landlords, and that the grafting of the one on the other could be easily learned, and that plain sewing was of great importance in domestic economy. He did, indeed, make one allusion to Ireland. He commended the women of Ireland for their proficiency in plain sewing, and ascribed to that reason much of the happiness which they diffused around them wherever they went. Everybody knows what a great deal Lord BURLEIGH expressed by merely shaking his head, and this prattle of Mr. DISRAELI about roses and stitching has been interpreted by some peculiarly subtle and sagacious critics, gifted with a faculty of seeing through mill-stones superior to that of the rest of the world, to mean an energetic protest against revolutionary legislation and socialist schemes of human happiness. Possibly Mr. DISRAELI may really have meant all this, but if so, he must surely have given a private hint of it to the very clever gentlemen who have found it out. To ordinary readers the speech merely conveys the impression that if Mr. DISRAELI does not talk politics, it is not because he cannot talk, but because he prefers to confine himself to less embarrassing subjects. His policy is for the present a negative one—to say "No" to whatever Mr. GLADSTONE proposes, and until he knows exactly what Mr. GLADSTONE is going in for, he deems it prudent to say nothing. He is perhaps not far wrong in his conjecture that Mr. GLADSTONE is likely to do himself most harm if let alone for awhile. No policy, in this instance, has some chances of success over a sharp and active policy. The people of this country are averse to a continuous course of change. In Lord PALMERSTON's time too many things were left undone. "Can't you let it alone?" was the principle which the veteran statesman borrowed from Lord MELBOURNE. Since then there has been a tendency to rush to the other extreme, and to disturb, and reform, and revolutionize everything which does not exactly conform to some preconceived theory of the fitness of things. GLADSTONE's accession to power coincided with a period of commercial difficulty, during which business was declining, and the temper of the country was in that uneasy, irritable state when severe political measures are not unwelcome. But trade has been recovered; the nation is making money fast, and are in a good-humored, easy-going mood. Besides, the excesses of the Commune in Paris have produced a reaction in favor of slow, old-fashioned, stable government, which does not pretend to right all human wrongs, and make the world perfect and happy under the dispensation of a Committee of Public Safety, but which keeps matters straight and comfortable without a periodical revolution. It is quite certain that in the present temper of the country reformers should remember the proverb, "More haste worse speed," and take things quietly for a while.

THE QUEEN.

The Queen's health is still an object of grave anxiety, notwithstanding the more favorable reports from Balmoral. It is now known that she has been suffering from a complication of disorders, and although the various maladies are not serious in themselves, they indicate an enfeebled and morbid constitution. It is said that the boils under the arm are due to imperfect vaccination, and it is possible that they date from the beginning of the sores created in this manner. But it is feared that they have a more dangerous origin. The Queen's illness has produced, as I told you, a strong popular reaction in her favor, and there is a touch of remorse in the apologetic manner in which some of the journalists who formerly complained of Her Majesty's neglect of State duties now allude to the subject. There can no longer be any doubt that the Queen is, as Mr. DISRAELI said, physically and morally unfitted for the performance of State duties which require her appearance in public. It is doubtful whether she will ever take part in any public ceremonial again, for even though her health is restored, the shock she has received will have an enduring effect. Whether the Queen's seclusion is due to ill-health or disinclination to go abroad does not, however, affect the question whether monarchy, as it has been hitherto understood in this country, can be carried on by an absent and invisible Sovereign. Mr. DISRAELI's explanation that, even when in retirement, Her Majesty made a point of going over all State papers herself, and interfering in all sorts of questions, will perhaps prove to have been injudicious. What is wanted is, not an active ruler, but a purely ceremonial person, qualified to conduct State pageants gracefully. It is quite certain that no such meddling with public affairs as is thus attributed to the Queen will be tolerated in the case of the Prince of WALES.

PERU.

Result of an Italian Demonstration in Lima—Shameful Conduct of the Church Party.

Lima, (Sept. 22,) Correspondence of the Panama Star and Herald.

The Italians resident in Lima and Callao, numbering about 12,000, conceived the idea of celebrating the anniversary of Italian unity and of the occupation of Rome by the forces of King VICTOR EMMANUEL, on the 20th of the present month. No sooner had this proposition been made public, than the clerical party, through their organ in Lima, the Sociedad, opened a most vigorous fire upon it, characterising the project as insulting to Catholic honor, and as certain of provoking a serious tumult. Nevertheless the Italians persisted in their arrangements, and nearly everything was perfected for the proper celebration of the day, when suddenly a Government decree appeared, prohibiting any manifestation on their part in honor of the occasion, calling upon the Prefects of the two cities to use every means in their power to fulfill the order, and alleging as a reason that the religious zeal of the community was so excited by the affair, that it carried into effect most serious disturbances would ensue. This action of the Government was induced by the powerful intervention of the anti-digni tarian Church party, represented by the diplomatic agent of the Pope, Mayor VENUTELLI. The publication of the decree caused a universal expression of disapprobation. The newspapers of Lima and Callao, with the solitary exception of the Sociedad, denounced it as contrary to the constitution, to common sense and common courtesy; the standing committee of Congress protested strongly against it, and public opinion was undeniably arrayed in its reprobation. The Italians were naturally excited to an intense degree by this attack upon what they deemed to be their legal privilege, but wise counsels prevailed among them, the Italian Minister addressing a manifesto to his countrymen, advising them to maintain the greatest moderation and tranquility, and to resign themselves quietly to a state of things which they were powerless to change. Yet, while the Government prohibited this manifestation on the part of the admirers of the King of Italy, no action was taken in respect to a procession which two days afterwards paraded through the streets of Lima carrying the likeness of the Pope in honor of the anniversary of his accession. This still more inflamed the ire of the Peruvian malcontents, and placards were posted all over the town, calling upon Peruvians who sympathized with the Italian cause, and who disapproved of the stand taken by the Government, to meet on the 20th, in the Plaza Bolivar, to give expression to their views and sentiments. It was feared then by the more pacific portion of the community that the meeting would be a fruitful source of riot and bloodshed, but the promoters declared their peaceful intentions, and asserted their constitutional right to assemble publicly. The day came, and the spacious plaza was filled with a crowd of about 15,000 persons, the great majority Peruvians. Scarcely had the opening speech been commenced, when large bodies of troops entered the square, surrounded the assemblage, and without distinction of persons, proceeded to arrest all whom they could get their hands upon. The most respectable citizens of Lima, natives and foreigners, were wantonly beaten with muskets, their hands tied behind their backs, and escorted under guard to the public prisons. Nearly 1,000 persons were thus degraded, without a shadow of justice for the act. The meeting was essentially pacific; up to the moment of this violent interruption not one seditious or inflammatory word had been uttered, not one hasty movement had been made. It is thought that the Police officers acted in excess of their orders, but the responsibility falls upon the Government. Fortunately the people made no resistance, no shots were fired, and the city, though greatly excited, remained in perfect tranquility. The Standing Committee of Congress again rebuked the Executive, and the Church Party in Peru has received a blow from which it can never recover; since from the instigations of its partisans the whole trouble originated, and the anger of the people is directed accordingly.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER—OCT. 13.

Before Judge Barnard.

DISCHARGE OF THE GRAND JURY—ARRAIGNMENT AND SENTENCE OF PRISONERS.

The following prisoners pleaded guilty and were sentenced:

John Faber, larceny, two years in State Prison.

Alonzo Ames and Cornelius O'Brien, larceny of a trunk containing clothing and jewelry of the value of $2,000. Ames was sent to State Prison for five years, and O'Brien for four.

Four men were arraigned for murder in the first degree, and pleading not guilty, were remanded for trial. Their names are as follows:

Philip Witkie, for the murder of Rudolph Wurcher on the 24th of September last, in Teuth-avenue.

Daniel Foley, for the murder of John O'Brien, in Spring-street, about a month ago.

James McGauly, for the murder of Agnes Reilly, known as the shanty murder, committed during last month.

John O'Brien, for the murder of Charles Casey, in the Fourth Ward, during last month.

The Court adjourned until Monday next.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART II.—OCT. 13.

Before Judge Freedman and a Jury.

CHURCH MONEY IN DISPUTE.

The Rector, &c., of the Church of the Redeemer vs. James T. Crawford.—This action was brought to recover $524, claimed by plaintiff to have been received by defendant as Treasurer of the Church, and not accounted for. The defendant claims that the money was collected under the supervision of the Sunday-school for a distinct missionary purpose, and had no connection with the church funds proper, of which he was Treasurer. On the present trial, the testimony for plaintiff being in, Judge FREEDMAN directed a verdict for plaintiff for $794 87, including interest.

E. J. Patterson for plaintiff; J. R. Hill for defendant.

A RAILROAD COMPANY GETS DAMAGES AGAINST ITS OWN CONDUCTOR.

Second-avenue Railroad Company vs. Isidore Henry.—This is a somewhat novel action brought by the Railroad Company against a former conductor for negligence, in which the Company suffered to the extent of $3,500. Plaintiff now sues to recover that amount against the conductor, claiming that his evidence shows that the judgment was the result of his negligence. Defendant not appearing, judgment was entered by default for $3,881 79.

PETROLEUM—Of Refined, 6,500 bbls., early delivery, in suit vessel, were reported sold at 9½c., closing a weaker market. At Philadelphia, the figures, spot and month, were 24c.@24½c.... Crude in bulk, dull at 14½c.@14¾c.... Creek figures unaltered.... Case Oil unchanged.... Naphtha at Philadelphia, Saturday, were 5,670 bbls. Refined and 2,230 bbls. Crude; and for the week, 16,270 Refined, and 7,220 bbls. Crude.... Nothing new in Naphtha.

MOLASSES—New-York has been offered more freely and rates have been in better request, but there has been no change on a very moderate trade. Sales reported since our last of 900 bbls., in lots, at 60@61c. for Western Muss, $1@$1 10 for Prime to Choice Muscovado, and $1 20 for Prime Muscovado delivered. Stocks continue to accumulate, and were on the 12th inst. 6,000 bbls. Cuba Muscovado, 1,000 bbls. Western Muscovado, and 1,000 bbls. Sugar-house Molasses.

RICE—Has been quiet but steady. We quote Carolina at $2@$3; Rangoon at $6 75@$7 12, and Patna at $7 12½@7 75.

SALT—Has been in moderate request at steady prices.

SALTPETRE—Has been in demand and held firmly at 9c., currency, ℔ lb.

SEEDS—Have been lightly dealt in, including Clover at 10c.@11c. for old and new, ℔ lb.; Rough Flax, $2 03@2 06; Timothy, $2@$3 35; Calcutta Linseed at $3 20, gold, ℔ 56 lb. bushel.

SKINS—Business has been rather more active. Deer stronger in price.

SOAP—Continues in fair demand, including Castile at 12¼c.@12¾c.; Colgate's Pale, 7¼c.; Family, 5½c., and No. 1, 4½c. ℔ lb.

SPICES—Have been in demand at very firm prices.

SUGARS—There has been a fairly active call noted for Raw since our last, with a somewhat steadier though not quotably higher market for refining grades, which have been most sought after. Holders have shown less eagerness to place desirable samples. Sales have been reported since our last of 5,252 hhds. and 831 boxes, including 805 hhds. good fair to good refining Cuba at 9¼c.@9¾c.; 262 hhds. very poor to good fair do., in odd lots, at 8c.@9¼c.; 30 hhds. Jamaica at 9c.@9¼c.; 100 hhds. Manilas at 8¾c.@9c.; 60 hhds. Porto Rico, to the trade, at 9¼c.@10½c., and 145 boxes Demerara at 11¼c.; also 531 boxes Molasses Sugar, mostly at 8c. ℔ lb. We quote fair to good refining grades of Cuba at 9c.@9¾c.; Porto Rico refining grades from 9¼c.@9¾c., and Grocery grades Porto Rico at from 9¾c.@10¼c., ℔ lb. No. 12 Clayed Box Sugar has been quoted at 10c. ℔ lb. Refined Sugars were in demand at 10¾c.@13c., as the extremes.

TALLOW—Has been in better request at moderately active demand at about previous rates; sales, 167,500 lbs. very common; to choice at 9¼c.@9¾c. Of Stearine, 41,000 lbs. were sold at 9¼c.@10¼c., chiefly at 10c.

TEAS—Have been held firmly, but have been without activity.

TOBACCO—Has been quoted about steady, but has been quite dull; sales, 125 hhds. Kentucky at 7¼c.@12c.; 150 cases Seed-leaf, sundry growths, at 25c.@60c.; and 700 bales Havana at 90c.@$1 05 ℔ lb.

WHISKY—Has been dull at 95c. ℔ gallon; sales, 140 bbls.

FREIGHTS—In the line of berth freights the markets show decidedly more firmness, with an improved inquiry for Grain. In the chartering line business has been very limited. The bids have been generally below the views of shipowners, and negotiations have been making slow progress. For Liverpool, the reported engagements since our last have been 2,400 bales Cotton at 7-16d.@¼d., by steam, chiefly for next week's delivery; ¾d.@7-16d. for odd lots, by do., to fill, and ¼d.@5-16d., by sail, ℔ lb.; 1,500 bbls. Flour, by steam, at 2s. 6d. ℔ bbl.; 125,000 bushels Grain, by sail, at 9d.@9¼d. for Corn, and 9¼d.@9½d. for Wheat, closing at the higher figures; 5,500 bushels Wheat, by steam, reported at 11d.; 16,000 bushels Corn, by do., at 10¾d. ℔ bushel; 470 pkz. Lard, Bacon, &c., part at 35s.; 1,100 boxes Cheese, by do., at 60s.@65s.; 200 hhds. Tallow, by sail, at 37s.@38s. ℔ ton; also, an American ship, 1,852 tons, and a British ship, 1,392 tons, placed on the berth for general cargo; and an American bark, 738 tons, (cleared hence today,) with a full cargo of Cotton, Charleston, at 9-16d. ℔ lb. For London, 7,800 bushels Wheat, by sail, at 9d. ℔ bushel; 15,500 bushels Grain, by steam, on private terms; also the British steamship Savona, 1,007 tons, placed on the berth for general cargo, at 3s. 6d. ℔ bbl.; 50 tcs. Beef at 38. ℔ tierce; 15,500 bushels Wheat at 11¼d. ℔ bushel; 300 boxes Bacon and 250 tcs. Lard at 40s.; 200 bbls. Fish-oil at 45s.; 75 tons Spermaceti at 80s.; 50 bbls. Tallow, to-day, at 37s. 6d. ℔ ton. To the British ship Ellen, a British bark, 558 tons, with 3,500 quarters Grain at 7s. 6d. per quarter. For Cork and orders, United Kingdom, a Norwegian bark, 558 tons, with 3,400 bbls. Petroleum, from Philadelphia, at 7s., or if direct, 6d. off; a Swedish bark, 498 tons, with 2,500 bbls. do., same terms; and a Norwegian bark, 334 tons, hence with 1,800 quarters Grain, reported at 3s. 6d. ℔ quarter. For Cadiz, an American brig, 345 tons, with a full cargo of Staves on private terms.

NEW-YORK CATTLE MARKET.

NEW-YORK, Friday, Oct. 13, 1871.

Trade in horned Cattle, on yesterday forenoon, at Weehawken Yards, was brisk at low rates. The Cattle ranged from very poor to good, and sold from 7c.@12c. ℔., weights from 1 cwt.@1 cwt., or 62 lbs.@67 lbs. to the cwt., net. On this market, also, at Communipaw Yards, trade was materially influenced by the recent fires at Chicago; salesmen held good Cattle for advanced rates. Quality ranged from common to good; prices from 8½c.@12c. ℔ lb.; weights from 5?9 cwt., or 54?58 lbs. to the cwt., net. Sheep were steady from 4½c.@6c. ℔ lb. LEGAL NOTICES.

TO JOHN WILSON, ROBERT STEEL and EDWARD CLAYPOOL, their wives and families, (if any such there be,) and the representatives of the said WILSON, STEEL and CLAYPOOL, and of their wives and families (if any):

TAKE NOTICE that the last will of the late Dr. William John Henderson, of Londonderry, Ireland, by his will, dated the 31st December, 1832, bequeathed to his nephew, John Wilson, of Brooklyn, near New-York, painter and glazier, the sum of £150, if living, at his (testator's death,) and in case of his death, leaving a wife and family, testator directed that said sum should be invested for the use of such wife for her life, and after her death to be divided among said John Wilson's children. But in case his said nephew should die unmarried and without issue, testator directed that £150 of said bequest, should be given to said Mr. Edward Claypool, if alive, and in case of his death that same should be divided between his wife and children.

The said Dr. Henderson died in the month of March, 1846, and said legacies of £150 and £300 were shortly afterward lodged by his executors in the Court of Chancery, in Ireland, and invested in Government stock, and same now remains in said Court, and amount to the sum of £949 19s. 4d., Government stock, and £27 2s. 10d., cash, or thereabouts.

Now, said legatees, or living, and if dead their wives and families, (if any,) or their legal personal representatives, and all persons having any claim in respect of said legacies, are required to furnish to Mr. Wynyard William Hardman, No. 2 Foster-place, Dublin, Ireland, Solicitor, the particulars of such their claim, on or before the 1st of November, 1871, with their names, address and description, together with documentary evidence of their title.

And further, that after the said date being within the time aforesaid, application will, after said date, be made to the Court of Chancery, in Ireland, to order that said stock and cash may be transferred to Mrs. Mary Ann Anne Jane Bellamy Henderson, widow and personal representative of John Bellamy Henderson, deceased, who was sole residuary legatee of said Dr. William Henderson.

Dated this first of June, 1871.

TOWNLEY WILLIAM HARDMAN,
Solicitor for the said Mrs. Henderson,
No. 2 Foster-place, Dublin, Ireland.

AT A SPECIAL TERM OF THE Court of Common Pleas of the City and County of New-York, held at the Court-house in said City, on the 28th day of September, A. D. 1871, present Hon. Hamilton W. Robinson, Judge.—In the matter of the application of ISAAC H. HART, for leave to assume the name of HENRY I. HART.—The above-named Isaac H. Hart having petitioned this Court for leave to change his name and assume the name of Henry I. Hart, and the Court being satisfied that there is no objection to said petitioner's assuming said name of Henry I. Hart; on reading said petition, duly verified by said petitioner, and on motion of N. B. Hoxie, attorney for said petitioner, it is ordered: That the prayer of said petition be granted, and that said petitioner be and he is hereby authorized to take and assume the name of Henry I. Hart, from and after the expiration of thirty days from the 10th day of October, 1871.

First Mortgage, Convertible,
7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds
OF THE
PEORIA & ROCK ISLAND RAILWAY
OF ILLINOIS.

First Mortgage Bonds - - - $1,500,000
Capital Stock - - - - - - - 2,000,000

This is a COMPLETED Road 91 miles in length, connecting the important Cities of Peoria on the Illinois River, and Rock Island, Moline and Davenport, on the Mississippi. Davenport, on the opposite bank of the river, is connected by a railway bridge. The last rail of this road was laid July 7, 1871, and the line is now open and being operated with a success exceeding all anticipation. In order to place upon the road the large equipment necessary for the business offered, and to construct depots, car and engine-houses, machine-shops, &c., equal to any of the best old roads in the country, as is now required of this, the Company offer, through the undersigned, $1,500,000 convertible first mortgage gold bonds, which cover the entire property of the Company, and is less than $17,000 per mile. PRESENT PRICE, 90, AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY. Principal and interest payable in coin at New-York or London, free of tax. Coupons payable February and Aug. 1.

This road, opened for the immense local as well as through traffic, now offered, will prove one of the most profitable in the West, traversing as it does a section of country unsurpassed in fertility of soil and agricultural resources, already thickly populated and in a high state of cultivation. This is self evident from the fact that every section of the road passes through cultivated fields and many flourishing towns and villages, with a large city and navigable river at each end. Railroads in the West have been heretofore constructed through unsettled and uncultivated regions of the country, consequently have had but little local traffic to depend upon for several years after construction. But the Peoria and Rock Island Railway is a first class COMPLETED road, with NO PARALLEL or COMPETING LINE, and RUNS THROUGH ONE OF THE RICHEST AGRICULTURAL, MANUFACTURING AND MOST POPULOUS DISTRICTS IN THE WEST. Thus it is certain that the local business is already more than enough to sustain the road, while the through traffic is unlimited, as its connections are numerous, which can be seen by a glance at the map.

This road is a grand central link, to which many of the principal lines centralize and diverge to all parts of the continent.

We invite the attention of investors to this loan. Being familiar with the wealth and resources of the country along the line of this railway and A MEMBER OF OUR FIRM HAVING MADE A CAREFUL EXAMINATION OF THE ROAD AND ITS PROPERTY, WE CAN WITH THE UTMOST CONFIDENCE RECOMMEND THE BONDS AS A PRIME SECURITY, reliable and safe in every particular.

All marketable securities received in exchange at full rates, and bonds delivered to all parts of the country, free of express charges.

Maps, circulars, &c., with full particulars relating to the road, furnished on application by the undersigned, Financial Agents of the Company.

EIGHT PER CENT.
First Mortgage Bonds
MOBILE & MONTGOMERY
RAILROAD COMPANY,
Indorsed by State of Alabama.
PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST
PAYABLE IN GOLD.

After a careful examination, we confidently recommend these bonds, because—

1. They are a first mortgage upon a road already completed and in successful operation, with net earnings well established for several years, at MUCH MORE THAN ENOUGH TO PAY THE INTEREST on all the bonds authorized to be issued.

2. The proceeds of these bonds will complete an extension of fifteen miles of heavy work from Tensas into the City of MOBILE, CONNECTING WITH THE PRESENT STEAM-BOAT SERVICE, CURTAILING EXPENSE AND INCREASING EFFICIENCY OF THE ROAD.

3. The road is 183 miles long. Entire mortgage, $2,500,000, or a little over $13,000 PER MILE; COST OF ROAD OVER $30,000 PER MILE.

4. It connects MOBILE and MONTGOMERY, and is a link in the route from NEW-ORLEANS to NEW-YORK, and also between the GULF and LOUISVILLE, by the insured completion of the road from MONTGOMERY north to DECATUR, being built by the LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD COMPANY, who thus display their estimate of the value of the route.

5. They are indorsed and guaranteed by the STATE OF ALABAMA, the value of whose indorsement has been recently tested and fully established.

6. Some of the most careful investors in ENGLAND and this country, after investigation, have bought these bonds for permanent investment, so that now only about $150,000 are on the market, which are for sale at present at 85 and ACCRUED INTEREST, BY

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.

Notice is hereby given to the stockholders of this Company, that they will have the privilege of subscribing for new stock in the proportion of one share for every five, and one share for every fraction of five shares greater than one-half as registered in their name Oct. 20, 1871, to be paid for at the rate of seventy-five cents on the dollar.

Subscriptions will be received, and the first installment of fifty per centum will be payable between the 1st day of November and 1st day of December, 1871. Second installment of fifty per centum will be payable on the 1st day of February, 1872, and if not paid on or before that date, the right to the stock subscribed for will cease.

If stockholders prefer, the whole amount can be paid at the time of subscription. Interest to Feb. 1, 1872, at the rate of seven per centum per annum, will be allowed on all paid installments, at which time certificate of stock will be issued. This interest will be paid with the February dividend.

Stockholders registered in New-York will subscribe and pay at the office of the United States Trust Company, No. 49 Wall-st., New-York; all others at the office of the Treasurer in Cleveland, Ohio.

No subscriptions will be received after Dec. 1, 1871.

The transfer-books will close Oct. 20, and reopen Nov 2, 1871.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The people of Ogulin, a town in Croatia, are in revolt, on account of the sale of the forests in the district known as the Military Frontier. The engineers' difficulty at Newcastle is still unsettled, and serious disturbances are threatened. By an accident on the Scotch express train from London on Thursday night, several persons were injured. The health of Queen VICTORIA is improving. The rupture between the adherents of SAGASTA and ZORILLA, in Spain, is complete. The Radical journals of Paris censure the appointment of M. PERRIER to the Ministry of the Interior, and accuse M. THIERS of pretending to conduct a Republican Government without the aid of Republicans. All difficulties in the way of the ratification of the Customs Treaty with Germany have been removed. It is asserted that many congregations of Roman Catholic orders are about to leave Rome for England and America, to found convents.

A thorough system of disbursing relief to the sufferers has been organized in Chicago under the Mayor, the Relief and Aid Society, and prominent citizens, which has the approbation also of Gen. SHERIDAN. The Mayor issued a proclamation yesterday, setting forth that order and security of life were restored, and that all the sufferers by the fire were sheltered and provided with food. He, however, says that vast numbers will be wholly dependent on the benevolence of their fellow-creatures for food and shelter during the coming Winter. The dispatches indicate that the prospect for the revival of business grow brighter every day. The banks, it is estimated, will be in a condition to realise three-fourths of their loans.

The ringleader of a gang of desperadoes who attempted to throw a passenger-train from the track, near Milwaukie, Wis., on Wednesday night, has been arrested. The gang was a part of a Chicago plundering party, escaping from that city, with the intention of raiding on Racine or Milwaukee. The railroad authorities prevented their further progress north. They retaliated by attempting a wholesale slaughter of passengers.

The returns from the Iowa election, and the details of the fires in Wisconsin and Michigan, are in part delayed by the interruption of telegrapich communication at Chicago, but more by the ravages of the conflagrations which are sweeping through the fields and forests of the North-west. Efforts will be made to obtain communication by a circuitous route.

The Manchester Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held to consider the proposed abrogation of the French commercial treaties, have expressed profound regret that the French Government contemplated such a measure.

A dispatch from Agram, the capital of Croatia, announces that the revolt in Ogulin has been suppressed. Three of the leaders were killed, and nearly all their followers were taken prisoners.

There were two deaths in Charleston, S. C., of yellow fever during the twenty-four hours ending last evening.

Two mills of the Oriental Powder Company, at Gambo Falls, Gorham, N. H., blew up at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. One man was killed, and another seriously wounded.

DAVID KENTLEY, alias James Wilson, was hanged in Hartford County Jail, Connecticut, at 1½ P. M. yesterday, for the murder of Warden WILLARD, of the Connecticut State Prison. He attempted suicide about 3 o'clock in the morning, by puncturing the heart with a small wire which he had secreted upon his person.

The Dominion Government are drafting men from the different militia districts and sending them, thoroughly equipped, to reinforce the companies now in Manitoba. They start immediately, via the Thunder Bay route.

It is reported that two conventions between France and Germany were signed yesterday, and M. POUYER-QUERTIER will leave Berlin today for Paris.

CLARENCE KING, the geologist in charge of the geological expedition of the fortieth parallel, writes from the Eastern Unita Mountains, Oct. 3, that extensive fires have raged throughout the Rocky Mountains since Aug. 26, filling the air with volumes of smoke so as to stop topographical work. Oct. 2 a heavy snow-storm prevailed, and on the 3d, for the first time, the air was clear.

The President, Mrs. GRANT and daughter, Postmaster-General CRESWELL and wife, and her sister Miss MCINTIRE, the Secretaries of the Treasury and Navy, and Gen. PORTER left Washington last night in special car for Boston. Secretary BELKNAP and Gen. BADCOCK will start for the same city today.

The Committees were appointed in the Triennial Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Baltimore, yesterday, on the question of a uniform ritual. The Committee of Canons was directed to report on, or the expediency of reporting, a plan for training Christian women for work in parishes and missions in the Church.

The Crash in Securities.

While a cheerful and resolute spirit well becomes the situation, and the brave words of the Chicago Tribune are heartily indorsed by the nation, it is folly to try to hide from ourselves the fact that the consequences of the great fire are very serious. Those consequences, disastrous to Chicago herself, are more or less prejudicial to the whole country. Three hundred millions of property have been suddenly and irretrievably destroyed. This sum, we must remember, is a positive and real loss. If the whole list of the Stock Market goes down ten per cent. today, a great apparent loss would be entailed; and if that list went up again ten per cent. next week, an apparent gain would balance the loss. Yet, whoever made or sunk money in either fluctuation, the real amount of property at stake would remain precisely the same. Not so in the Chicago case. The loss here is as absolute as if so much gold coin had been sown up in sacks and pitched into the sea. Chicago will rise again magnificently from her ruins. The swiftness and the splendor with which she will be rebuilt, will hereafter, we may safely prophesy, be quoted as one of the wonders of the world. But the cash which is to pay for the work must be found afresh, and not a dollar of it can be plucked from her smouldering ashes.

The millions represented by those nine square miles of desolation are blotted out now, and must be replaced from without. A sum equal to or greater than the whole annual expenses of the Federal Government, equal to or greater than even the average loans of the New-York City banks for September—an extravagant and hazardous exhibit—has been swept away, and external capital must make it up. Wall-street has felt this keenly during the past two days, and, from appearances, will feel it more. The heavy fall in stocks may or may not be greater, as some claim, than the occasion calls for. There are, in either event, good grounds for believing that the Chicago fire may prove the cause of a healthier state of things, however unpleasant the transition. It may, in other words, prick the bubble of inflated speculation, and so be followed by a decline greater than its own intrinsic magnitude could ordinarily warrant. The puffed-up and "watered" condition of too many of our railroads is perfectly understood by well-informed and sagacious business men. Such a condition is necessarily unwholesome, and operates only for the profit of an interested minority. The public are mulcted by it in a way which, under a despotism, they might rebel against, and the cost of living has been artificially enhanced, by a system which infallibly tends to make the few very rich and the many very poor. Perhaps, we repeat, the Chicago fire is destined to give a heavy blow to inflation, and to restore prices to a natural condition. The indications in business circles, somewhat alarming as they undeniably for the moment are, favor such a hypothesis. Out of the nettle of financial danger, then, there is reason to hope, may be plucked the flower of financial safety.

The fall in Government securities will be, of course, but a temporary evil. There is no way of evading the necessity which the insurance companies and other fiduciary institutions, called on hastily to realize their assets, are under for selling their United States bonds; and there is no way, under existing policy, of preventing such sales from carrying down the market. The sympathetic effect upon other classes of securities, apart from any intrinsic depreciation of their value, is equally inevitable. A short time ago the London Press was busy in hunting up reasons for the low price of Consols. Such a thing was extraordinary, unjustifiable, and ought to be remedied. The theory and the grievance was that the Government securities were unwarrantably low, as compared with the railway securities. The truth was, be the perturbating causes what they might, that money, at the moment, was appreciating in value, or, in other words, that money was buying less than it ought to buy of everything—a state of things precisely identical with what exists at this moment among ourselves. This fact was established right on the heels of the Consol discussion by a heavy fall in railways. A few quotations from the London Stock Board of the securities of the great roads will show the extent of the decline:

	Sept. 19.	Sept. 23.
Caledonian	113½ to 114½	105 to 106
Great Eastern	46½ to 47	42 to 43
Great Northern	134½ to 135½	131 to 133
Great Western	106½ to 107	99 to 100
Lancashire and Yorkshire	158 to 159	151 to 153
London and Brighton	70½ to 71	64½ to 65
London and North Western	147½ to 148	139½ to 140½
Manchester and Sheffield	69½ to 70	62 to 64
Midland	139½ to 140	132 to 133
North-eastern	174 to 175	163 to 165
South-eastern	94 to 94½	89 to 90

This fall, which has since been partially recovered, represents in two cases a depreciation of no less than from fifteen to twenty millions of dollars in gold. The panic was described as causeless, the fact being that it was immediately preceded by no sharper provocative than an advance of one per cent. in the rate of discount by the Bank of England. Necessarily, this statement involves only a superficial explanation. A profounder one is that in England, as here, the public have learned to look with distrust on expansions which experience has taught them arise from speculative manipulation, rather than from legitimate growth. Of course the Chicago fire is a more stupendous element of disturbance than a rise in discount by any bank, and it is therefore presumable that it may lead to commensurate financial results. There is now no doubt that, indirectly as well as directly, those results will include much suffering, and entail on many individuals heavy losses. If, however, the evil of speculative inflation shall by this means be effectually lessened, the people at large will assuredly be the gainers, and an unlooked-for blessing may be conferred, through what at first appeared an unmixed, and most terrible, calamity.

The Courts and the People.

At every fresh stage of the people's struggle against thieves in office and their accomplices, it becomes more distinctly obvious how grave a responsibility rests upon the Judges of our local Courts at the present crisis. It is a time when the people's servants on the Bench can make great and lasting reputations or incur undying infamy. Judge BARNARD has, thus far, fulfilled his obvious duty with a boldness, earnestness, and consistency which entitle him to the very highest praise. His prompt discharge, yesterday, of the very objectionable Grand Jury of the Court of Oyer and Terminer was very wisely placed upon grounds of personal indulgence to the jurors. It was none the less obviously dictated by considerations of public interest. These gentlemen had studiously abstained from paying any attention to the matters expressly commended to their notice in the opening charge of Judge BARNARD. It is, perhaps, as well that they did so, as it is very difficult to imagine that they could have reached any conclusions on such subjects which the people could have accepted.

At the beginning of the term of the Court of General Sessions, a Grand Jury was drawn and its time of meeting adjourned till the 16th inst. This appears to have been the Grand Jury to which Judge BARNARD referred as the new one which was to be impaneled on Monday next. If this one should accomplish any more than its predecessor, we shall certainly not have to thank the Ring for it. By the same sort of coincidence which placed the Mayor's uncle and nephew upon the Grand Jury of Oyer and Terminer, we have the name of LORIN INGERSOLL, father of the notorious chair-maker, placed upon this one. HALL, Jr., the Ring painter, and HEATH, the Ring lamp-maker, were also drawn from a panel which was apparently rich in the dependents of Tammany. Fortunately, however, they do not serve. Further investigation may show that the general composition of the new Grand Jury exhibits as glaring a contempt for popular sentiment and the demands of justice as did that of the one just discharged. The presence of the elder INGERSOLL within its number is, to say the least, hardly calculated to attract public confidence as to its fitness for dealing with the criminal acts of City officials. It is as well that the Ring and their tools should understand that this game may be played once too often. There is a point beyond which public indignation will assume the form of exasperation which will prove a good deal more dangerous than the existing state of feeling about our City plunderers. The people expect to have such a Grand Jury as will act upon the recommendations of Judge BARNARD'S opening charge whether the District-Attorney does his duty or not. If the Tammany conspirators think they can cheat the people out of this demand for justice by the selection of packed juries, they will probably have a ruder awakening from the delusion than they count upon.

The question which Judge INGRAHAM has now under consideration affords another illustration of how much depends upon the Courts in the present struggle. The decision given yesterday was on a point which nobody ever disputed, namely, the right of the Department of Parks to demand the issue by the Controller of assessment bonds to be repaid by sums levied upon the property-holders adjoining the locality to be improved. The main question on which a decision is reserved is whether the two per cent. Tax Levy, drawn up with fraudulent intent by the leaders of the Ring, was understood and passed by the Legislature as a deliberate attempt to deceive the people. If this bill can be interpreted to sanction unlimited expenditure by Departments which, if words have any meaning, were expressly placed under its provisions, then legislation might as well be dispensed with altogether, as tending not only to multiply perfectly unnecessary laws, but as presenting the readiest facilities for breaking promises to the people in the act of making them. Judge INGRAHAM has it in his power to compel our City robbers to face the natural consequences of their own acts, and to fulfil the substance of their own professions. He can throw fresh lustre on his judicial record and secure the support of every honest man by doing it. It will be time enough to speak of the results of a different course when he disappoints these expectations. In the meanwhile, Judge BARNARD'S fidelity to the interests of the people deserves full and cordial recognition.

Magnanimity of the Democratic Chief.

The forgiving disposition of "Boss" TWEED is one of the noblest attributes of that shining light of Democracy. In his speech before the Tammany General Committee on Thursday evening, he even had the magnanimity to beckon Mr. TILDEN and the Reform Democracy back into the Tammany fold, and to assure them of a welcome. "He was aware," he said, "that there were certain men who had in former years been operating with them who were not now operating with them, but he had no doubt that before election day those men, or most of them, would return quietly to the fold and be received back again, of course, as they had been before." Could anything be more paternal and touching? If Mr. TILDEN and his wayward brethren can resist such a touching appeal, they must, indeed, be hardened sinners. And mark, too, with what generosity the "Boss" calls upon his followers to rally to the support of the State ticket, nominated by a convention from which, according to the World, he and all his friends were kicked out and trampled upon. The ticket, he said, "should be re-elected, and he knew it would be. They were all men who had served the State before with honor in the positions to which they were now again nominated." We are glad to see that this magnanimity of the "Boss" and his fidelity to his party are appreciated in the rural districts, however lightly they may be regarded in this City. It is plain that the country Democracy, who so implicitly followed his directions at the Rochester Convention, still look to the "Boss" as the leader of the party. "He had received such information and assurances," he said, "from the interior of the State, that he would venture to assert, confidently, that the Democratic ticket would again be triumphantly elected throughout the State." What can be more gratifying to the true Democrat than to learn that such "assurances" are constantly coming in from all parts of the State to the great Democratic high priest? Such men as HORATIO SEYMOUR, SAMUEL TILDEN, Chief Justice CHURCH, and FRANCIS KERNAN may fancy that they are going to run the Democratic Party of this State, but they will find that the "Boss," who ouchered them in State Convention, still holds the reins in his own hands, and their only hope of victory rests in the "assurances" he receives from the interior.

Help for Michigan and Wisconsin.

It almost seems as though a scourge of fire had fallen upon the North-west. Close upon the heels of the overwhelming disaster at Chicago comes the news of conflagrations in Wisconsin and Michigan, more extensive, and in their destruction of life more appalling even, than that which desolated the prairie metropolis. In Wisconsin at least two thriving settlements have been utterly annihilated, wiped out as though they had never been. What is worse, hundreds of their inhabitants are believed to have perished amid the ruins of their homes. Numbers were driven into the river and drowned, and in one place one hundred and fifty persons are said to have been burned up with a large barn in which they had taken refuge. At Pishtego 325 bodies are reported to have been buried, while at Little Sturgeon Bay seventy-five are supposed to have been destroyed by the flames.

Of course in every calamnity like this there is a tendency at first to exaggerate the actual loss of life. It is to be hoped that more careful investigation will materially lessen these shocking estimates. Even then it is to be feared that the death-roll will be long. In Michigan the fiery visitation was even more fearful. East and south of Saginaw for forty miles the fire has made fearful ravages, and the best part of three fair counties is now a blackened waste. Through the vast pine ranges that fill that country the flames sped with almost the rapidity of thought, and towns and villages ceased to exist before they fairly knew they were in danger. Of course, in this swift, relentless sweep, life soon became as difficult to save as property, and, not to speak of multitudes of the brute creation, hundreds of human beings, it is feared, were destroyed. Elsewhere men, women and children were driven into the lake, where they remained up to their waists in water for hours. In other parts of the State the ruin was scarcely less complete. Indeed, it is said that scarcely a county has escaped. In the words of one narrator of the sad story, "The whole country seems to be in flames." To these helpless people, fleeing through a flaming land, penniless and homeless, from the ashes of all they held most dear, it must have seemed like the advent of that dread day when the heavens shall be rolled together like a scroll.

With this enormous destruction, not alone of property, but of all the industrial interests which that property supplied, there must come incalculable distress and suffering. The Collector of Customs telegraphs to Washington that hundreds of people thereabouts are starving. In the abundance of our charity for Chicago let not these unfortunates be forgotten. So generously has the entire world come to her aid, that Chicago may safely be said to be beyond the fear of immediate want. For the relief of these Michigan and Wisconsin sufferers, bound to them by no such intimate ties, we can scarcely expect the outside world to contribute. They must look for rescue to a narrower field, and it behooves their countrymen to be mindful of their sore affliction. The magnificent generosity so lavishly poured out upon the people of Chicago will not, we are very certain, fail their fellow-sufferers, whose need is now even more pressing. By the time these lines are in print it is probable that three or four millions in money will have been forwarded to the stricken city, besides supplies of provisions and clothing, blankets and shelter tents to the value of many hundreds of thousands more. Several of the insurance companies have announced an intention to pay all losses at once; the funds in the vaults of Chicago banks have been found in many instances intact; a large proportion of the losses has fallen upon men of wealth and business repute, whose credit is still unimpaired, and there is besides a considerable part of the city still standing. With our knowledge of Chicago activity and enterprise, it is not to be doubted that before many months, perhaps before the Winter sets in, temporary shelter at least will have been provided for all her houseless citizens. We do not offer these reflections as reasons for slackening in the exertions that are making for the relief of Chicago. On the contrary, we trust that they may go on, if possible, with renewed vigor. In spite of all that has been done much remains to be done, before her people will be placed beyond the danger of immeasurable distress during the Winter months.

But the point we wish to urge is that Chicago, comparatively speaking, is at this present moment a less urgent object of charity than the wretched and starving survivors of the Michigan and Wisconsin fires. Cannot some organized effort be set on foot at once to help these poor people?

What Will be the Effect of the Fall of the Ring on the Value of Real Estate?

We published on Thursday a letter from a house contractor, predicting a general depression in values of real estate, if the Ring be driven from their seats. The inference apparently is that we must keep this clique of swindlers in power, so that houses and lots may be worth twenty-five per cent. more in the market. If HALL and SWEENY are expelled from the Government of this City, Mr. ASTOR must "reduce his rents twenty-five to thirty-three per cent." A fearful result truly, and one to be looked upon with great anxiety by the vast population of tenants in New-York. As a consolation to our correspondent, we can assure him that the best thing for every community is to have its property on an honest and solid basis. The Ring have, indeed, been speculating in real estate to such an extent that it has assumed, in many quarters of the City, a fictitious value, and has become quite out of the reach of men of moderate means. It is not desirable for this City to be made up of millionaires and laborers, as it seemed fast in process of being. The immense prices which were offered for choice plots by the speculators, were rapidly driving the best class in the community—the middle class—out of the City. The Ring's extravagance, taxation and speculation were compelling an exodus of our small tradesmen, professional men and mechanics to all the adjacent villages and towns. The increase of New-York population has sadly fallen off under the government of Tammany.

Now, if something of this corrupting speculation in real estate, which has been carried on by the plunder of the Ring, and which has reached so gigantic a scale, be stopped, we, for one, shall not be grieved. Suppose the houses and lots, made by the stealings from every honest citizen's purse, be thrown on the market, and prices fall, who will be most injured by it? Not the general community, who will find themselves in a healthier condition, and who can bear a temporary depression, but the speculators. These must go to the wall. Values of real estate will find their genuine foundation, and every owner of houses and land will know where he stands.

But there is another important effect on real estate from these frauds which our correspondent, like most of the working classes, does not fully estimate. According to the report of the Committee of Sixteen—the highest authority on such a matter—the debts of the City by the end of the present financial year must amount to $120,000,000. At that period we may hope that a new and reformed administration will begin a cheaper government; but at that date we shall owe this enormous sum. The real estate of New-York is valued at over $800,000,000. Our debt then will be some fourteen or fifteen per cent. on the assessed value of our houses and lands, or probably about eight per cent. on the market value, perhaps more. A portion of this indebtedness we have been paying hitherto each year in taxation. The larger part—say six per cent.—we must pay during the coming year. This will be a new tax, levied by the Ring on the real property of the City. A man owning a house worth $10,000, for which he has previously demanded $1,000 rent, in order to pay taxes, insurance, and to net him seven per cent., will now demand $1,600. Every tenement room which has before paid its $250 or $300 per annum, must now pay not only the additional six per cent. to the Ring, but one or two per cent. more to meet risks and losses. The hod-man, the 'longshoreman, the tailor and carpenter, the grocery man and shop-keeper will all be poorer this Winter to supply the carpets and furniture and innumerable outlays which have gone to the friends of TWEED and HALL. Every man and woman and child in New-York will pay this year for their stealings.

But such an increase of rent must again drive population away from the City, as it has done before; and we shall see our best hands and best heads scattered in the surrounding country, because these public swindlers have plundered the Treasury. This tax on the other hand is a mortgage on property. It eats up the profits upon it as a security. It drives capital away from investing in it. It makes houses and lands in New-York a poorer property than they were a year ago, and of course tends to bring down their market value. As their price falls, rents fall, so that the poorer classes may in the end be somewhat compensated. We agree with our correspondent, though not altogether for the same reasons, and without deploring it, that the downfall of the Ring means a considerable fall in the speculative values of real estate in New-York, and the adjacent counties—especially Westchester. We shall have, we believe, cheaper houses and cheaper land in the next decade than we have had in the last; and all classes will be the better for it.

Raising the Wind.

There are various ways of compelling us to deliver over our goods and chattels to those who covet them. The open way is by a pistol at our heads. But there are other quite as efficient ways. One of these is the collection of "voluntary" contributions from office-holders to aid the party which appointed them. Another is assessing our property for so-called improvements. But it seems to us that the "Insurance Convention" has adopted quite as original a way of extracting money as we have heard of lately. GEORGE W. MILLER, Gov. HOFFMAN'S Superintendent of Insurance—who, as the salary is liberal, is, we are glad to believe, no poorer by reason of his acceptance of the office—took it into his head to call a Convention of the several State Superintendents of Insurance in this City last May. He got together eighteen persons beside himself, one of them a resident of this City. They remained in session nine days. They were fêted and entertained. They said a great many things and discussed a great many propositions, doing, we believe, some good work. But after their adjournment, the insurance companies who were not in the secret were astonished at being informed that the expenses of the Convention had been $9,000—just a thousand dollars a day, and that the companies had been assessed by some one on some unexplained basis to pay these expenses. Of course the companies with few exceptions, meekly "came down" and paid up, for they did not dare to do, otherwise. The companies are completely under the power of the Superintendent of Insurance. He can annoy them by repeated examinations, of which they have to pay the expense. He can by a shrug suggest that any company is in a bad way, and thus affect its credit.

We should have said nothing of this discreditable exhibition were it not that the Convention is called to reassemble in this City next week, and that the Superintendents are in the call expressly told that their expenses will be paid from "the funds of the Convention," which means that the Companies are to be plundered again. Now, we have nothing to say against a Convention of the Insurance Superintendents. We believe such a Convention will be productive of good, if it is not run by a few old Companies in their own interest against the new Companies, of which there is danger. But we protest against a repetition of the disgraceful spectacle of this black-mail of the Companies. It is the duty of the Superintendents of Insurance to watch the insurance companies, and yet these gentlemen are to meet, at an expense of a thousand dollars a day, which they are to assess upon the companies, to be paid out of the trust funds in their hands. The cats are to meet in council to decide how they can best keep watch on the rats, and they propose to compel the rats to pay their expenses while so engaged. If the Superintendents think for a moment, they will imitate the example of the Massachusetts Superintendent, who persistently refused to attend last May, and will stay away until some method is devised of paying their expenses other than by a levy of black-mail.

MINOR TOPICS.

Mr. R. A. HANDCOCK writes a very reproachful note to us for not publishing a previous letter in vindication of Mr. ASHBURY. Mr. HANDCOCK is probably not aware that a newspaper will only contain a given quantity of matter, and that some delay in the publication of letters is often unavoidable. His communication reached us on Thursday, was set up in type, and would have appeared at the earliest opportunity. But now, as we have had to bear our correspondent's complaints, we shall leave the matter where it is. We are further moved to this course by the fact that we have neither time nor inclination to unravel the mysteries of the great "Ashbury correspondence," and that we regard the said correspondence as one of the worst nuisances of the day. So far as we can make out anything through the haze, Mr. ASHBURY wants to win the "Queen's Cup" on his own terms, and Commodore BENNETT and the New-York Yacht Club very naturally object to that plan. Mr. ASHBURY seems to be as full of "objections" and "conditions," and fuss generally, as an egg is full of meat, and there is nothing in the treatment he has received which justifies the petulant tone visible in all his letters. Commodore BENNETT gave him every chance last year of running as many races as he desired, and after all Mr. ASHBURY went away dissatisfied. We think Mr. ASHBURY had better go home. That is our opinion about all this muddle—and if it is not satisfactory to Mr. HANDCOCK, we are very sorry for it.

Our special dispatch from Chicago of this morning gives a number of practical and business-like details of the ascertained results of the great fire that cannot fail to prove both interesting and valuable. Now that calm and systematic investigation has become possible, it is obvious that a good many horrible episodes of the early days of the week had no existence except in the imagination of their inventors. There is every evidence that the recuperative power of Chicago will prove as marvelous as either its rapid growth or its terrible destruction. Life is, with amazing celerity, flowing back into the old channels and capital and enterprize stand ready to fill the awful void that forty-eight hours made in the "Garden City."

The Young Men's Municipal Reform Association was duly constituted last evening in Chickering Hall, under the most promising auspices. As we have already stated, we consider this a most seasonable movement, and one calculated to produce the most beneficial results, both in the present and the future. The organization partially formed last night, is in the best possible hands, and only needs to be as judiciously conducted as it has been started to make it no common success. After our repeated and recent appeals for precisely the kind of action which was taken last night, we thought it was impossible that anybody should misunderstand our sentiments in regard to such a movement. The Evening Post, however, with wonderful obtuseness, or very pitiful malice, wants it to be understood that we treated the promoters of last night's meeting with ridicule. If the Post is unable to see any difference between complimentary pleasantry and ridicule, we venture to assure it that the young men of whom, in its elephantine way, it gives a patronizing approval, have intelligence enough to prevent them falling into any such blunder.

One of the Ring organs sneers at Deputy Controller GREEN'S circular to the City employes under his control, as an "appeal to the voters." Considered in that light, it is the best appeal the voters have heard from the Court-house in many a long year. When any of the City officials takes occasion to tell his subordinates that they must work well for their pay, and their pay only, eschew perquisites, refuse fees, abandon sinecures, look for promotion only as they deserve it, and be courteous and attentive to the citizens who seek their offices, the people will listen to it with the greatest pleasure, especially if, as in Mr. GREEN'S case, they know they can trust the official to make his words good.

By the exercise of some ingenuity and a good deal of presence of mind, the Professors and students of Villa Nova College, Pennsylvania, recently saved that institution from being destroyed by fire. The flames originated in the basement, and would have soon enveloped the entire building, but for the use of wet mattresses and a liberal supply of mud. In this way the doors and windows were made air-tight during four hours, at the end of which time the fire died from lack of sustenance. There were no engines nearer than Philadelphia, and before one could be procured from that city the last vestige of smoke had disappeared for fully an hour and a half.

The Commercial Advertiser of last evening contains the following pointed allusions to the reasons for the support given by certain journals to the Ring:

"Some men who assume to lead the Democratic Party in this State act in a very unbecoming way toward their friends and associates in this City. When running along with a fair wind, they have shared in their society, eaten their good dinners, drunk their best wines, and told their friends that TWEED, HALL & Co. were the best fellows in the world. But when the wind changes, and the storm is howling, they abandon their friends and exclaim, 'Let them sink! They don't deserve to be saved.' This is the language of the Albany Argus and the New-York World to the men who have been feeding them with the unclean drippings of the Legislature. Look at the Supply bill of last Winter, and see how liberal Senator TWEED and his friends were in voting subsidies to the Albany Argus. Never in the history of legislation was there known such bare-faced plunderings. The conduct of the Albany Argus and the World toward their friends in this City has no parallel for meanness and ingratitude. There ought to be honor among thieves."

People in Europe should be cautious how they trust individuals professing to be agents of the United States Government. Those who are really acting in such a capacity are able to show irrefragable proofs of the fact, in the absence of which they may safely be put down as impostors. We fear that in the latter category must be included "Col. W. S. ROWLAND," who is at present traveling about Europe as "the Special Commissioner of the United States Government to examine into the whole subject of emigration." A cable dispatch to this effect, dated London, Sept. 24, has been extensively circulated by the American Press, and has attracted various comments. As a matter of public interest, therefore, on both sides of the ocean, we deem it proper to state that Col. W. S. ROWLAND is not the "Special Commissioner of the United States" for the purpose named, or for any other, and that the authorities of the Treasury Department deny that he is accredited by that or by any other Department of the Government. The subject of emigration is of vast importance to this country, and it is certainly one to which the relation of our Government should be in no way misrepresented or misunderstood. A large proportion of those who come to these shores, or who contemplate doing so, are persons of limited knowledge, upon whom deception of any kind is likely to produce permanent bad effect. We do not know that Col. ROWLAND seeks to deceive—unless it be in assuming a character to which he is apparently not entitled—or that he may not entertain designs of a most benevolent nature. It is, however, proper that all who are interested should understand that the officers of the Government here are unaware of any arrangement warranting Col. ROWLAND in representing himself to be their agent, as described.

The Thiers' Government is accused of parsimony in its subventions to the Paris Grand Opera—another unfortunate thing for the Republic. The giddy Parisians do not pause to think how far their own folly has made retrenchment necessary, but sharply condemn a stingy asceticism that impairs a favorite amusement. It appears the Grand Opera is in future to receive only $180,000 gold, a year; and this year, because of the few performances, only $120,000. Now, it is insisted that the Grand Opera cannot possibly be conducted with an annual subsidy of less than $200,000. The new director of the Opera, feeling convinced of this, resolved to throw up his appointment; but has been persuaded to think better of it. It is said there will be a loss, and the Government, out of shame, will have to pay it. We imagine that our lyric managers would be charmed to get a lift from the State of half the lowest sum thus accorded their brethren in Paris. Besides the aid thus given the Paris opera, the chief theatres get some nice little sums. The Théâtre Français is allotted $100,000 a year, the Opéra Comique $60,000, and there are other smaller allowances. Some may think this a poor way of spending the public money; but, after all, it may be pronounced better than to lay out that money in diamonds for dishonest officials' daughters, or than even for building "palatial stables."

THE INTERNATIONAL RACE.

An Amicable Settlement—Letter From the New-York Yacht Club Committee to Commodore Ashbury.

The Committee of the New-York Yacht Club, appointed at a special meeting to arrange details for the races against the Livonia, met yesterday, at Messrs. OSGOOD & CO.'s office, No. 34 Broad-street. A communication from Mr. ASHBURY was read, to which the Club returned the following answer:

NO. 26 BROAD-STREET, Oct. 12.

James Ashbury, Esq., Commodore Royal Harwich Yacht Club:

SIR: Your communication of this date is at hand, by which we are gratified to learn that our negotiations have come to a successful conclusion, and that you assent to sail a series of seven races, in accordance with our proposition made on Oct. 10, in which you represent the Royal Harwich Yacht Club only. Therefore, we accept the dates of the races proposed, with the following slight alterations of the days, viz.:

Monday, Oct. 16—New-York Yacht Club course.
Wednesday, Oct. 18—Twenty miles to windward beyond Sandy Hook light-ship and back.
Thursday, Oct. 19—Club course.
Saturday, Oct. 21—Sandy Hook light-ship, course as above.
Monday, Oct. 23—Club course.
Tuesday, Oct. 24—Sandy Hook light-ship, course as above.
Wednesday, Oct. 25—The same.

And we propose to start on Monday morning, at 10 o'clock, from the stake-boat off Quarantine.

We remain, yours truly,
MOSES H. GRINNELL, Chairman,
SHEPPARD GANDY,
ROBERT S. HONE,
PHILIP SCHUYLER,
CHARLES A. MINTON.
Per CHARLES A. MINTON, Secretary.

The Committee-boat will leave the foot of Desbrosses-street at 9 o'clock on Monday morning.

The Committee of Seventy and the Election.

The Committee of Seventy held a three hours' session last evening, nearly all the leading members of the Committee being present. On the reporters being admitted, they were informed that the Committee had discussed the question of preventing frauds at the coming election, and had arrived at satisfactory conclusions.

Some reference having been heretofore made by the public Press in regard to a correspondence between the Mayor and the Committee in reference to the appointment of inspectors of election, Mr. STEBBINS, the Chairman, stated that no correspondence whatever had been had with the Mayor on the subject further than the receipt of a brief note from him, in reply to one from the Committee, saying that he would prefer that the Committee would state their views on the subject in writing rather than in a personal interview.

The Committee adjourned to Tuesday next.

Fifteen Thousand Dollars for Breach of Promise.

The breach-of-promise suit brought by ROXELLENA HOMAN against ALEXANDER T. CARLE for $25,000, was concluded in the Brooklyn City Court, before Judge NELSON, yesterday, and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $15,000. Defendant is a wealthy member of the First Presbyterian Church, and was for a long time Superintendent of the Park Mission. Plaintiff makes her living as a seamstress. Judge EMOTT conducted the case for the defense, and Ex-Judge REYNOLDS for the plaintiff.

Alleged Incendiarism.

At 8 o'clock last night a fire broke out in the top floor of a two-story frame dwelling at No. 144 Tenth-avenue. The fire was extinguished before a damage of more than $100 was done. The house is occupied by Mrs. ELIZA RODGERS, and her son, THOMAS RODGERS, has been arrested on a charge of setting it on fire. Fire-Marshal MCSPEDON will detain the alleged incendiary until a thorough investigation shall have been made.

REVOLT IN MEXICO.

Four Hundred Troops Attempt to Capture the City of Mexico.

Two Hundred and Fifty Taken Prisoners and Shot.

Three Thousand People Left Destitute by the Fire in Wisconsin.

MEXICO.

Attempted Revolt in the City of Mexico—Negrete and Others at the Head.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 1, via VERA CRUZ, Oct. 2.—This afternoon 400 gensdarmes and cavalrymen revolted, and attempted to take possession of the city. The garrison rallied under the command of Gen. ROCHA and others, and attacked and defeated the insurgents. Two of the latter were killed in the fight. Their leaders, said to be NEGRETE TOLEDO, RIVERO and CHEVARRIA, effected their escape; but several officers with 250 men were taken prisoners and shot the next morning.

THE WISCONSIN FIRES.

Three Thousand Men, Women and Children Destitute.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Oct. 13.—Gov. FAIRCHILD telegraphed the following from Green Bay, in relation to the Wisconsin fire, tonight: "The appalling calamity has not been exaggerated. Over 3,000 men, women and children are now destitute. The loss of life has been very great; not less than 500 persons have been burned at Pistatego and vicinity, and 300 on the eastern shore. Scores of men, women and children are now in temporary hospitals, burned and maimed. Money, clothing, bedding, boots and shoes, and provisions of all kinds uncooked are wanted, also building materials and everything needed by a family to commence life with. The people are responding nobly, but there is no danger of too much being received. The destitute must be provided for during the Winter."

POLITICAL.

OHIO.

A Tie in the Senate—A Republican Majority of Thirteen in the House.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—A dispatch from R. D. HARRISON, Chairman of the Republican State Committee at Columbus, Ohio, dated today, gives the following as the summing up of results in Ohio: Senate—Republicans, 18; Democrats, 18. House—Thirteen Republican majority. Governor—Estimating majority in counties not fully reported same as last year, with returns at hand, make JNOYES' majority 25,000, likely to be more rather than less. The Lieutenant-Governor has the casting vote in the Senate, which will give the Republicans the control.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Murder of Major Catto, of Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—The Police are searching for the murderers of CATTO and CHASE. CATTO was Major of the Colored Brigade. Gen. WAGNER, in his order for the parade of the regiment to attend the funeral on Monday, says: "It was while in the act of obeying an order he had received as a soldier that the murder met him. Having been ordered by the Assistant Adjutant-General of the brigade to notify several officers of this command to order their men to the armories to be ready to aid in the suppression of the riot then in progress, he proceeded home to obtain his equipments, and while upon his own door-step was ruthlessly assaulted with a bludgeon, knocked down and mortally wounded by pistol shots through the heart. The Coroner's jury is investigating the murder of CATTO. The evidence is conclusive that FRANK KELLY was the murderer.

This afternoon a large meeting of the citizens was held to express indignation at the murder of Prof. CATTO. Addresses were made by Col. A. K. MCCLURE, Rev. J. WALKER JACKSON, W. B. MANN, Ex-Gov. POLLOCK and others.

The Pennsylvania Elections—Democratic Majorities Reported.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—The following Democratic majorities are official: Montgomery County, 764; Bucks County, 41; Berks County, 5,831; Lycoming County, 410; Clearfield County, 1,303; Lehigh County, 1,215; Columbia County, 1,776.

THE REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.

Mayor Hall's Refusal to Confer With a Delegation in Regard to Inspectors—The Primaries.

The members of the Republican Central Committee met last evening at Masonic Hall, Thirteenth-street, between Third and Fourth avenues, Mr. JOHN J. TOWNSEND in the chair.

The Committee on Ratification reported that the general Republican rally would be held in the Cooper Institute on the 26th inst., and eminent speakers would be invited to attend.

The Chairman, on the part of the Committee appointed to confer with the Mayor in relation to the nomination of inspectors of election, informed the meeting that a communication had been addressed to the Mayor, in conjunction with a delegation from the Committee of Seventy, asking permission to attend personally before him. He refused to receive the deputation, but expressed his readiness to consider any written proposition they desired to offer on the subject. Mr. HODGKISS, of the Committee of Seventy, intended to address him a communication, and in the meantime a list of reputable inspectors was being drawn up for presentation to the Mayor.

The Executive Committee reported that the County Convention would be held at Bleecker buildings, on the 20th of October, at 7½ P. M.; the primaries would be held on the 18th inst.; the Senatorial Convention on the 25th of October, and the Assembly Convention on the 24th of October.

Mr. KINGSLEY said that the fifteen days mentioned by the State Central Committee to unite with the other faction of the Republican Party having expired, and their propositions having been unanswered, he asked the Committee to take action on the matter. Messrs. WHITE and GARDNER opposed the motion on the ground that it would be discussed by the State Committee next Tuesday. The question was laid on the table.

On the motion of Mr. SPENCER, it was unanimously resolved "That the Republicans of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Iowa, for their signal and overwhelming victories of Tuesday last, eminently deserve thanks and honor. Their verdict is for Republican principles, and the National Administration which it so well maintains, and especially for the brave and beloved head of that Administration—the present and next President of the United States. [Great applause.]

The Chairman stated that a conference was had between the Presidents of the different Republican organizations of the City, and a movement was in contemplation for the appointment of a reliable person, who would stand at the registration booth during the days of registry, and note the address of every man who registered. On election day, also, he would count the number of voters, and if there was any very perceptible number beyond the number that registered he should be prepared to swear to the fact. The subject was one of vital importance, and the man who performed the task efficiently deserved the thanks of the community.

Mr. CROSS said that nothing but a general uprising and a total suspension of business would secure a fair count at the ballot-box.

After the appointment of a Committee on Naturalization, the meeting adjourned.

Seventeenth Ward Reform Democratic General Committee.

The Seventeenth Ward Reform Democratic General Committee met, last evening, in Beethoven Hall, East Sixth-street. Each member present subscribed his name to a form of declaration issued by the Council of Political Reform, pledging himself not to aid, countenance or assist any nominee for office from the Tammany Hall branch of the Democracy, unless such nominee receive the approbation of the Reform Democratic Committee, and to use every effort to overthrow the Tammany Ring.

Organization of a Young Men's Municipal Reform Association.

A very large meeting was held at Chickering Hall, in East Fourteenth-street, last evening, in response to the following call:

You are invited to attend a meeting to be held at Chickering Hall, No. 11 East Fourteenth-street, on Friday, Oct. 13, at 8 P. M., for the purpose of organizing an Association of the young men of this City, irrespective of party, the general object of which shall be to co-operate with the movement now on foot for Municipal reform.

It was a noticeable fact that the assemblage did not number any politicians, but was exclusively composed of young bankers, lawyers, merchants, clerks, and others. The proceedings were characterized by great enthusiasm, and the sentiment of the meeting was strongly and earnestly in favor of reform.

The high character of the gathering may be judged from the following list of names of gentlemen who were present:

Julien T. Davies, Frederick H. Betts, Peter B. Olney, George Putnam Smith, J. B. Kiddoo, John E. Brooks, Cornelius B. Mitchell, Wm. A. Duer, Allan W. Evarts, Henry T. Sloane, Charles P. Miller, James M. Varnum, Joseph T. Low, Thomas G. Barry, Thos. C. Sloane, Norton Folsom, Francis F. Marbury, Jr., Charles A. Peabody, Jr., Charles E. Tracy, James H. Elliott, Jr., Edward Weld, George A. Bostwick, Charles H. Kohlsaat, Ambrose H. Purdy, William Mitchell, Jr., Theron G. Strong, Edward A. Weeks, Frederick R. Halsey, J. Henry Work, John Cropper, James H. Wood, William A. Senger, Payson Merrill, Charles Russell Hone, Giraud Foster, Robert Kelly, Cadwallader E. Ogden, David S. Ogden, John H. Livingston, Cornelius Roosevelt, Alex. T. Van Rest, George P. Slade, Ames F. Eno, Geo. Winthrop Folsom, Elliot Smith, S. Sydney Smith, William D. Sloane, William Blaikie, Matthew C. D. Borden, Fordyce D. Barker, Hilborne L. Roosevelt, Edmund Coffin, Jr., George H. B. Hill, Robert L. Reade, Russell N. Bellows, William D. Foulke, Frank Molocsay, William P. Dixon, John C. Eno, Edwin J. Dunning, Matthew D. Chalmers, Alfred Taylor, Frederick Wesson, John C. Connor, Jr., L. K. Wilmerding, Dudley G. Gantier, Charles C. Marsh, A. F. Delafield, Daniel J. Holden, George Hill, George W. Poor.

EX-Judge BARRETT was elected President of the Association, which is to be called the Young Men's Municipal Reform Association. Addresses were made by Ex-Judge BARRETT, JULIEN T. DAVIES, Prof. DWIGHT, Col. HAWKINS and others. It was announced that meetings for the formation of Ward Associations would be held on next Tuesday evening, and that the places where they were to be held would be advertised in the TIMES. The meeting then adjourned.

POLITICAL NOTES.

WILLIAM JACKSON, of Rome, is the Republican candidate for Assembly in the Third District of Oneida.

CHARLES A. ALLEN is the Democratic candidate for Assembly in the Second District of Saratoga.

Hon. HOMER A. NELSON has declined to accept the Democratic nomination for Senator in the Eleventh District.

Gen. BUTLER'S precise theme in Philadelphia on Monday evening will be: "What Has the Country Gained by the Treaty of Washington?

The Democratic nominations for Assembly in Delaware County are: First District, JAMES KNOX POLK; Second District, A. R. HENDERSON.

The Connecticut temperance men have resolved to hold a State Convention and form an independent political organization for the Spring campaign.

The official Republican majority for Auditor-General in Philadelphia is 11,494, a large gain over the first reports. The majority for Mayor is 9,080.

WADE HAMPTON lectured on ROBERT E. LEE in Baltimore on Thursday evening. JEFFERSON DAVIS was among the occupants of the platform.

Col. ROSWELL C. MCNEIL, of Tioga, has been nominated for the Senate by the Democrats of the Twenty-fourth District.

The Democratic Convention for the Fourth Judicial District, met in Saratoga yesterday, but adjourned without making a nomination to Wednesday next.

The Georgia Democratic State Executive Committee is to hold a meeting in Macon on Tuesday, Oct. 24, and the Tennessee Committee is to meet in Nashville on Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Gen. J. L. BEVERIDGE, the Republican candidate for Congressman-at-Large in Illinois, is to take the stump at once, and will make a thorough canvass of the State before the election.

The Erie County Republican Convention, at Buffalo yesterday, nominated LORAN L. LEWIS for State Senator, ZEBULON FERRIS for Surrogate, and B. H. WILLIAMS for District-Attorney.

The Philadelphia Press of yesterday, estimates the Republican majority in Pennsylvania at 20,567. The Senate, it thinks, will consist of eighteen Republicans and fifteen Democrats; the House of sixty-four Republicans and thirty-six Democrats.

CHARLES A. STEVENS, of Ware, and ALVAH CROCKER, of Fitchburg, are among those mentioned for the seat in Congress to be vacated by the election of Hon. WILLIAM B. WASHBURN as Governor of Massachusetts.

Dr. P. W. RAY, of Brooklyn, presided over the Colored Labor State Convention in Troy, and it was addressed by Rev. W. J. Butler, of New-York, W. H. Johnson and A. S. C. Mathews, of Albany, and Rev. M. Smith, W. F. Henry and H. G. Jefferson, of Troy. The Convention disbanded the State Labor Bureau, and adjourned sine die on Wednesday evening.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY, in another letter asserting that he will not accept a nomination for any office in the present campaign in Minnesota, says he is not rich enough to follow politics as an amusement. He explains that he proposes to lecture this season upon his reminiscences of Washington life, and running for office would interfere with his engagements.

Mr. BRENTANO (No. 33 Union-square) has received the Illustrated London News, which contains a large colored picture; the Graphic, with an unusually liberal supply of first-rate engravings; Punch, the Academy, Saturday Review, and all the latest publications. Mr. BRENTANO keeps ahead as usual.

UNITARIANS TO THE RESCUE!—Nothing is more needed by the homeless families of Chicago than warm clothing. Food is by this time in hand, but thousands must go for days without any shelter and utterly destitute of the most ordinary comforts. The members of our churches there have special claims upon us at this time. It is highly probable that many of the dwellings, if not the churches of our ministers and their people are in ashes, and that rich and poor are common sufferers from a disaster which recognized no distinction of persons.

Contributions of clothing, bedding, portable food and money sent to the Sunday School-room of All Souls' Church, No. 239 4th-av., between 19th and 20th sts., upstairs, any day this week between the hours of 10 A. M. and 4 P. M., will be immediately forwarded to the suffering people of Chicago, to be distributed by our ministers there. HENRY W. BELLOWS.

CRITICAL NOTICES.

"As a brief and yet sound and learned exposition of the Pentateuch, for the use of teachers in Sunday-schools and for Christians generally, this fills an excellent place."—New-York Independent.

"There is a freshness about it of peculiar charm. * * * We have not a doubt that ministers and all intelligent Christians will find it a great and good thing."—New-York Observer.

THE FIRST VOLUME OF
DR. HODGE'S SYSTEM OF THEOLOGY.
SYSTEMATIC THEOLOGY.
By CHARLES HODGE, D. D., of Princeton Theological Seminary.
To be completed in 3 vols., 8vo. Tinted paper. Price per vol., in cloth, $4 50.

CRITICAL NOTICES.

"For clearness of view, force of argument, and general comprehensiveness and grasp, the work cannot be surpassed. Neither is it sectarian in its character, but rests upon the broad foundations of Evangelical truth. No theologian or controversialist can afford to be without it, since all the different phases of theological, metaphysical, and materialistic thought, from the oldest heresies to the newest notions, are exhaustively examined and analyzed."—Newark Daily Advertiser.

"The book is undoubtedly the most important contribution to theological science of late years. * * * Its beauty is that, while the unpronounced theologians read it with advantage, the simplest believer will be profited by its perusal."—New-York Observer.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

At the Exchange yesterday, no business was transacted; the legal sale of a house and lot on Forty-third-street, between Third and Lexington avenues, by Jos. McGUIRE, expected to occur, being adjourned until the 20th inst. The auction at Richmond Hill, Long Island, on Thursday, conducted by JOHNSON & MILLER, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, was largely attended, and the result to a very great degree a success, some hundred lots being disposed of at satisfactory prices. The details are given below. The principal purchasers at the sale, most of whom were from Williamsburg, were as follows, P. Walker, R. T. Andrews, F. O'Brien, P. Buckett, F. Tomes, M. Donnavan, G. P. Hageman, W. H. Cinch, R. Connington and C. C. Norton. The sale at Bayside, Long Island, E. A. LAWRENCE, auctioneer, held also on Thursday, we regret to state, was not as successful as the above, only a few lots being sold, those present seeming indisposed to make bids in any way approximating to the real value of the property. For today no sales are announced, but for next week a large number of auctions are projected, many of them of importance, at which both City and country realty will be offered. For the convenience of those interested in real estate a full list, as usual, of these proposed transactions will be published on Monday. In the matter of private sales and otherwise, the market yesterday was generally dull and without event.

AUCTION SALE OF VALUABLE SHORE-HOUSES, PIERS AND WATER-RIGHTS, BY ORDER OF THE NEW-YORK WAREHOUSING COMPANY.
ADRIAN H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & CO. will sell at auction on THURSDAY, Oct. 19, at 12 o'clock, at the Exchange Sales-room, No. 111 Broadway, about sixty-five lots of land, together with eight brick store-houses, three piers, bulkhead and water-rights, situate at the foot of Van Brunt-st., opposite the Erie Basin, Brooklyn, known as the New-York Warehousing Company's stores and basin.
The above-described property comprises the entire block bounded by Van Brunt, Reid and Conover sts. On the property are eight large brick store-houses of the following dimensions: One of 85x200, one of 16½x173, two 75x200, one 140x173, two 75x121, one 100x173; also, three piers 40 feet wide and substantially built. Large basin, bulkhead and breakwater. This property is one of the most available in the vicinity of New-York for commercial or manufacturing purposes, and is particularly well adapted to the storage of cotton, its present capacity being 40,000 bales, which can, however, be largely increased if desired. There is now a large storage and wharfage business done on the property, which can be retained if desired.

EXECUTION OF WILSON.

The Murderer of Warden Williard Hanged at Hartford—His Life and Crimes—Attempted Suicides—Last Scenes.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

HARTFORD, Oct. 13.—DAVID KENTLEY, alias Henry Marshall, alias James Wilson, who this day suffered the extreme penalty of the law, and who was born in New-Jersey about fifty years ago, has lived a most eventful life. From early youth he was trained to the burglar's profession, and has followed it constantly and successfully throughout the cities of the Republic. This noted criminal escaped from no less than seven jails. At one time, while effecting his exit from a Western prison, in the depth of the Winter, both of his feet were frost-bitten, and the toes were subsequently amputated. In walking he used a cane. With this he committed the crime for which he atoned with his life. In 1857, WILSON began to serve a five years' term in the Connecticut State Prison, and, strange to say, was unable to escape during that time. Before many years elapsed, WILSON found his way back again on several charges of burglary, for which he had been sentenced to sixteen years' imprisonment, with indictments in other States awaiting his release. His only hope lay in escape, but a strict watch was placed over him owing to his jail-breaking proclivities, and he found no means of escape.

HIS LAST CRIME.

On Sunday, July 14, 1870, WILSON sent for WM. WILLIARD, the warden of the prison, whom he desired to show some of the hieroglyphics he was constantly drawing on his slate. Suspecting nothing, the warden approached the cell door, took the slate, stepped back to read what was written thereon, and while thus engaged WILSON thrust his cane, to which he had skillfully fastened the blade of a knife, from between the bars, with fatal effect, disemboweling the unfortunate warden and causing his speedy death. The grief and anger of the prisoners knew no bounds when this reached their ears, and some even swore to avenge the warden's death themselves, so kind had he been. It is thought that the murderer secreted the knife while at work in the shoemaker's shop.

At his trial WILSON conducted his own case, and acted in a very defiant manner. During his confinement at Wethersfield, awaiting death, he studied law, wrote 100 pages of his life, which he destroyed because the prison authorities would not consent to their publication without their revision, endeavored to starve himself to death, and last Sabbath composed several rhymes, in which he stated that he simply did his duty in killing WILLIARD, and was sure of God's mercy. As the day of execution approached he evinced no fear of death. The prison authorities were very vigilant, searching his cell every few days, and requiring him to disrobe at the same time, to see if he had secreted anything about his person. But he outwitted them on one occasion, by making a stiletto out of a bone he found in his soup. When it was known that he was armed with this, the greatest consternation prevailed in the prison. He was taken from his cell, subjected to a rigid examination, and remanded, more closely watched than ever.

SUICIDAL ATTEMPTS.

On Thursday evening the doomed man retired early to a troubled slumber, after a day spent in writing letters and receiving friends, among them a former mistress of his, who once helped him to break jail. WILSON has written several statements charging that his conviction has been illegal, and that he only murdered the warden in self-defense. He has also written a poem entitled "The Starving Convict," copies of which were issued from the newspaper office and sold on the streets. The scaffold was built at one end of the prison, between two tiers of cells, and the noise of hammers during its construction seemed to have no effect on the condemned, who even offered to help the workmen. His attempt at suicide took the public by surprise, although it was expected. Early this morning, before many people were awake, it was rumored in the prison that WILSON had forced a needle into his heart and that he was not expected to survive an hour. It afterward appeared that the facts had been exaggerated. He had indeed attempted suicide (but the attempt proved abortive,) with a piece of wire which he had concealed. He had pierced his heart, but at noon he was conscious and made another statement. The execution, which was announced for 11 o'clock, was postponed, and the Courts consulted about the matter, some having the impression that they could not hang him legally without granting him a new trial.

THE FINAL SCENE.

At about noon it was announced at the prison that only the Sheriff's deputies and reporters would be allowed admittance. Owing to the weak state of WILSON, the Sheriff stated that the condemned man might die on the way to the scaffold. On the contrary, however, there was no faltering in his step, although he was helped up the scaffold stairs. On the scaffold he calmly surveyed the audience and several times glanced up at the rope. After the Sheriff had read the death-warrant the prisoner was given time to make a statement, which he did without a tremor in his voice. He spoke about two minutes, asserting that he had killed the warden in self-defense and for the cause of suffering humanity, therefore it was no disgrace to die at the hands of the hangman. He then thanked the Sheriff for favors, placed the rope about his neck and calmly awaited death. The black cap was drawn over his head, the Sheriff descended, and as he touched the last step the drop fell, at 1:35 o'clock, and WILSON the murderer was no more. His death was greeted with triumphant cheers by the rabble outside, for which the military on guard charged upon and routed them. WILSON before death willed his body to Yale Medical College at New-Haven. Taken in all its aspects, a hanging scene like that in which WILSON figured has never before been witnessed in all New-England. He died without the slightest struggle.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NORTHERN PACIFIC

GOLD BONDS.

During the Past Few Weeks

THE DEMAND FOR

7.30 Northern Pacific Gold Bonds

has been daily increasing, and holders of FIVE-TWENTIES continue to manifest the fullest confidence in

NORTHERN PACIFIC SEVEN-THIRTIES

by the exchange of large amounts of Governments, called in for redemption, into these securities.

The Bonds are secured, beyond all question, by a first and only mortgage on the Road, its entire rolling stock and 50,000,000 acres of the finest land in the world.

We do not hesitate to commend these Bonds to our friends and the public, and no stronger proof of their popularity could be offered than the sales during the first week of the present month, which, notwithstanding the disturbances in monetary affairs, EXCEEDED THOSE OF ANY SIMILAR PERIOD.

All marketable securities received in exchange.

Full particulars furnished by

JAY COOKE & CO.,
